

British Speed Troops, Carrier To Tanganyika

African Country
Calms Down After
Military Mutiny

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON (AP) — Britain rushed nearly 2,000 troops and an aircraft carrier to Tanganyika's borders today but the situation in the new African nation appeared to be calming following an army mutiny.

A brief Associated Press dispatch from Dar es Salaam, the Tanganyikan capital, said a government information officer had announced that President Julius Nyerere was safe and would broadcast to the nation today.

Nyerere was reported at his official residence in Dar es Salaam.

Curfew in Effect

Diplomatic reports trickling into London said the Tanganyikan capital was calm but under military curfew and the rebellious 1st Battalion of the Tanganyika Rifles, the country's army, apparently had taken over from the police.

The reports said at least 14 persons were killed and 120 injured in Monday's mutiny, triggered by resentment over low pay and delay in replacing British officers commanding military forces of the two-year-old commonwealth nation.

No white casualties were mentioned, and the victims were all believed to be African or Asian. Many were believed to be Indian owners of shops and bazaars that were looted during the disorders.

Americans Safe

The British Broadcasting Corporation said in its 7 a.m. broadcast that all was reported quiet during the night in Dar es Salaam.

The U.S. State Department said all Americans in Tanganyika—estimated at about 1,300—were reported safe. They include 165 U.S. government employees working in the embassy, the U.S. Information Service and the Peace Corps.

The mutiny, coming only a week after the leftist coup on the nearby island of Zanzibar, brought quick British action to protect the 5,000 British citizens in Tanganyika.

Dar es Salaam Radio said Lt. Elisha Kavama took command, presumably replacing Brig. Patrick Sholto-Douglas, senior British officer of the contingent which has been training and commanding the native force.

Judge Refuses to Rescind Order for Whipping Defendant

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A Delaware judge has refused to set aside the whipping he ordered for Talmadge R. Balser, 41, and said he has been criticized for reducing the number of lashes.

Balser was sentenced to 25 years and 20 lashes, but Superior Judge Stewart R. Lynch reduced the penalty two weeks ago to 15 years and 10 lashes.

Judge Lynch denied defense attorney Edward W. Schall's motion to set aside or reduce the sentence Monday.

Balser was convicted of robbery charges.

Schall said he would appeal and ask a stay of the lashing, scheduled for Jan. 28.

Johnson Proposes To Halt Output of Nuclear Vehicles

Sends Special Message to Arms Conference at Geneva

BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP) — President Johnson proposed to the Soviet Union today a program freezing the production of nuclear delivery vehicles.

Presenting his proposal in a special message sent to the resumption of the 17-nation disarmament conference here, Johnson asked the Russians to join in a new program to halt the nuclear arms race and to prevent a new world war.

The President's program, including a world treaty to outlaw the use or threat of force in international disputes, was read by U.S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster.

Besides the freeze on the production of nuclear delivery vehicles, Johnson proposed the shutdown of all reactors producing nuclear materials for weapons, and a system of observation posts to prevent surprise attack or accidental war.

Johnson also urged a special agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to additional countries and to ban the underground nuclear tests unaffected by Moscow test ban treaty.

The conference resumed after a five-month recess.

Other points in Johnson program:

1. A discussion of the "means of prohibiting the threat or use of force, directly or indirectly—whether by aggression, subversion, or the clandestine supply of arms—to change boundaries or demarcation lines." The prohibition also could apply to any interference with access to any territory or to any effort to extend control over territory "by displacing established authorities."

2. The powers should attempt to develop "a verified agree-

Says He Gave Stereo Set to Johnson in '59

WASHINGTON (AP)—A local insurance agent has sworn to Senate investigators that in 1959 he gave a stereo set costing over $500 to Lyndon B. Johnson at the suggestion of former Senate aid Robert G. Baker.

President Johnson at that time was the Senate Democratic leader and Baker was secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

The story of the gift of the stereo set was told to the Senate Rules Committee in a closed session by Don B. Reynolds, who described Baker as associated with his insurance agency. The committee made the testimony public today.

Reynolds said he paid $542.25 for the stereo set and another $42.50 to have it installed in Johnson's home.

Reynolds also told about a $200,000 insurance policy issued on Johnson's life.

Along with the transcript of Reynolds' testimony, the committee made public a statement from Walter Jenkins, a close associate of the President's, saying he was informed that "the alleged gift of a record player to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson...was a present from Robert G. Baker."

Snowslide Buries Wyoming Skier

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — A snowslide swept Dennis Staley, 27, a distance of 600 feet and buried him under four feet of snow Monday.

Four companions spotted the tip of his skis jutting out and rescued Staley. He suffered cuts and bruises. The others were missed by the avalanche.

Staley is a ski patrolman at a resort here.

Murrow Resigns; Rowan Named USIA Director

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edward R. Murrow resigned today as director of the U.S. Information Agency and is being replaced by Carl Rowan, who will become the highest-ranking Negro in government.

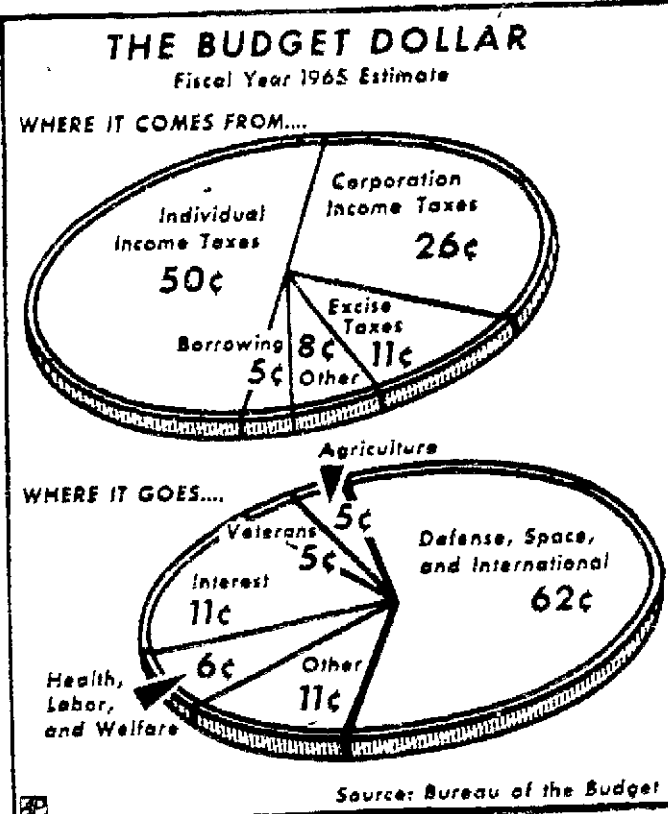

President Johnson announced Murrow's resignation, which was tendered because of the need for a long convalescence from lung cancer surgery Johnson said he accepted the resignation "with the greatest reluctance."

Rowan, now ambassador to Finland, is a former newspaperman who was deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs before going to Finland.

As USIA director, Rowan will become the first Negro ever to sit in on meetings of the National Security Council.

U. S., Russia to Use Echo 2 in Joint Test

Via Satellite, if Orbitted

BY RALPH DIGHTON

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The world's largest man-made moonlet is scheduled for launching Thursday, and if orbited it could open a new era of scientific cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

U.S. space agency officials say this country and Russia have agreed to use the 135-foot diameter balloon, to be called Echo 2, for their first joint experiments in talking via satellite.

Agree On Experiment

The United States and Russia agreed last August to use Echo 2 as an experiment in communications via satellite, bouncing radio signals off its reflective surface and picking them up at ground stations. A spokesman said this would be the first time for the two powers to talk via satellite. No date for the transmissions has been set.

The signals, on a frequency of 162 megacycles, may carry voices, audible tones, telegraphic code or facsimile pictures. The Russians are not participating in the launching of the satellite, but they may attempt to track it by military radar. During the course of its expected lifetime, Echo 2 will be seen from all parts of Russia, a space agency spokesman said. The near-polar orbit is the same as that used by Samos photographic reconnaissance satellites, which keeps every square mile of Russian territory under surveillance.

The shiny plastic-and-aluminum-foil sphere, the spokesman said, "is expected to be seen by more persons than any other man-made object in the history of the world."

Previous largest satellite was the 100-foot-diameter Echo 1, launched in 1960 and still in orbit.

Pinpoint of Light

Echo 2 is expected to be visible in this country for the first time late Thursday, when it crosses the Eastern states on its sixth trip around the globe about 10 hours after launch.

If the skies are clear, it will be seen as a pinpoint of light moving from south to north. The satellite has no internal illumination but can be seen when struck by rays from the sun below the horizon.

Western states should be able to see the moonlet about 12 hours after launch, on its seventh pass around the earth.

Launching is scheduled between 5:11 a.m. and 6:14 a.m. (8-11 a.m. and 9-14 a.m. Eastern Standard Time).

GOP Critical But Democrats Praise Budget

Dirksen Skeptical
Mansfield Lauds
'Tight' Figures

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats generally applauded President Johnson's $97.9 billion budget today, calling it tight and realistic.

Republicans appeared to it with the skepticism of an audience at a magic show.

"I'm intrigued by how much more can be under by the federal government so many quarters with so less money," said Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

He suggested that Johnson may have to employ "legerdemain" to finance programs he proposed and hold spending below this year's level.

Dirksen said Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon testified in October that the year's deficit would be to run $9 billion.

Praise From Mansfield

"But by some authority computers and calculations are now told the administration will do more with less and up with a deficit half of amount," he said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said, however, that the President's estimate represent a "tight" budget.

'Torch Is Passed' Books On Their Way to Appleton

Here's good news for Post-Crescent readers who have purchased "The Torch Is Passed," the Associated Press book recounting the assassination of President Kennedy.

The Post-Crescent's books are on their way to Appleton and the first 2,000 should be received this week.

Mailing will begin immediately on receipt with orders first received being filled first. That means the orders received away back in early December.

Incidentally, the shipment represents two-thirds of the Post-Crescent orders received to date.

"The Torch Is Passed," is a handsome, hard cover, folio-size volume giving a complete account in pictures and in an original, 835,000-word narrative of the tragedy of the Kennedy assassination.

Today, just six weeks after announcement by The Associ-

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Mr. Novak tackles anti-Semitism in a conscientious script which is unfortunately unresolved. Beau Bridges is a brilliant member of the debating team whose tactics include upsetting the opposition through racial slurs.

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — There's a great punchline to a nutty McHale's Navy episode. Gruber and gang are making sarongs out of hot parachute silk, but Tinker disagrees on designs. So the boys split into warring teams, with Binghamton encouraging the split for his own nefarious schemes.

8-9 (Channel 4-5)—The Richard Boone Show has a slow-moving, but absorbing study of a dying man (Warren Stevens) on a visit to his home town, where he attempts a self-examination. Involved are his mother (Jeanette Nolan) and his former fiancée (Bethel Leslie), who lets earlier differences with him get in the way of a renewal of their romance.

8-9 (Channel 11)—One of those bigger than life "great white hunters" comes to The Greatest Show on Earth where he has to face reality while learning where he belongs. Cornel Wilde's performance as the hunter, makes this a worthwhile hour. (Color)

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — The Jack Benny Program takes a long time building to a funny scene, but passes part of the time with two songs from Nat King Cole.

9-10 (Channel 11) — The Fugitive has a taut episode which draws a parallel between hero David Janssen's situation and that of a young man, pleading innocent to a bloody double murder.

9-10 (Channel 2)—The highlights of The Garry Moore Show: a skit in which Nancy Walker plays a woman on a budget cruise sharing a tiny cabin; and Garry and Durward Kirby as a pair of dispassionate newsmen describing an impending disaster.

The role of the young Catholic who becomes a priest and finally a cardinal is Tryon's first important screen portrayal. Otto Preminger, producer-director of the film, picked him for the part after his screen tests.

Valley Theatergoers Really Like Musicals

'Bye Bye Birdie' Plays to Full Houses; Riverside Players to Give 'Fantasticks'

BY JINGO

The musical comedy fever continues to rage in Fox Cities community theater circles and after the response St. Norbert College received for its "Bye, Bye, Birdie" production over the weekend it seems the area theatergoers are quite pleased with the turn of events.

The latest musical plans are centered about Neenah and the Riverside Players there. With successes in their summer season and fall production, the Players are planning to round out the year with a winter production as well.

On March 19 through 21, the Players will hold forth in the Neenah High School auditorium with the wild-fire musical revue "The Fantasticks."

Getting the project off the ground will be the tryouts at the Whiting Boathouse at the end of Fifth Street in Neenah. "The Fantasticks" needs singers, actors, musicians and crew people.

The revue has swept the country on all levels. Its popularity was so great that at one time there were two interchangeable companies working with Thane of Cawdor next month.

Jan Oliver, who brightened the summer season with her appearances with the ill-fated Holiday Players in Manawa a few years ago, has been cutting a good-sized niche for herself in professional theater in Milwaukee as a member of the Fred Miller Theater — "Milwaukee's Civic Theater."

From Jan. 29 through Feb. 16 she will play a featured role in the Miller's production of "The Hostage" by Brendan Behan. The production is in the hands of a pair of actors who created their roles in the show's off-Broadway introduction to this country.

The Fox Cities' part of the year-long celebration of William Shakespeare's 400th birthday will hit the boards at Stansbury Theater Feb. 25 when the Lawrence drama department stages "Macbeth."

This announcement should go a long way in explaining the appearance of all that chin foliage that is cropping up on the Lawrence campus. The men behind the muffs, apparently, are

Elks, Guests Win and Lose Fortunes at Party

The long arm of the law has reached into the gambling dens of Wisconsin, but, when the money is phony, the fun is fabulous. Members of the Appleton Elks Club set up an imaginary Monte Carlo

Saturday evening in their clubrooms, and everyone was out to 'break the bank.'

The plan for the evening was the establishment of the largest gambling casino ever seen, for strictly a one night stand. Set up for 'paying customers' were roulette, black jack, horse racing, pin wheel, dice, Chuck O'Luck, and, for the more timid, bingo.

Those who had lost their 'fortunes' early in the evening found solace on the dance floor. Earlier in the evening they were fortified for the fray by a 6 to 7:30 p.m. cocktail hour and 7:30 to 9 p.m. dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis LaSalle were chairmen of the party, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Acker, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Grossman, Mr. and Mrs. William Gmeiner; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kangas, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Earl, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liethen, Mr. and Mrs. Elde Wagner; Mr. and Mrs. Reidar Rasmussen, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schumacher, Mr. and Mrs. Earl

Today's Etiquette

OFF TO BAD START

Dear Louise: My daughter is upset over the young man who has been rushing her lately. He was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. She has been disturbed that he doesn't have the manners to open and close the car door for her when they go out together. The two young people had an argument about this. My daughter even told the boy that she understood that Annapolis undergraduates are trained in the social graces. The boy held his ground that such a thing as opening and closing doors isn't necessary. What do you think about this? My daughter is wise enough to wonder if this lack of manners, even though a minor thing, might be indicative of the boy's character.

Louise Davis Answers:

The young man obviously wasn't taught some of the gentlemen's rules. Whether he is an Annapolis cadet or an officer, whether in or out of uniform, or no matter what his station in life might be, he should be enough of a gentleman to open the door for his date, his fiancee, his wife, his mother. I hope to learn. When at Annapolis, he should have learned at least by that the young officer seeks a gentleman and brings up the subject for his own enlightenment. I hope your daughter will have opportunities to test him out if the two continue to date. I also hope that the young man isn't the kind who isn't flexible or who thinks that he is always right.

Take Care of Low Cards For Slams

You are taught to bid a slam on the basis of your high cards, but when the bidding has ended you must still produce twelve or thirteen tricks. Low cards may then play a decisive role.

South's jump to two notrump promised 13 to 15 points in high cards, with balanced distribution and strength in all of the unbid suits. North, with a count of 20 points in high cards, knew that the combined count was 33 to 35 points.

As a rule, a count of 33 points gives you a reasonably play for twelve tricks. You need 37 points to think of a grand slam. Hence North was justified in jumping immediately to six notrump.

The bidding was perfect, but South misplayed the key diamond suit. He took the first trick with the king of clubs and returned the jack of diamonds, covered by the king, and won with dummy's ace. Declarer then continued with the queen of diamonds and a low diamond. This left East in position to take two diamond tricks, one with the seven and the other with the ten. East lost no time in doing so, and South was down one.

After winning the second trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, South should return to his hand with the ace of hearts to lead the eight of diamonds. West would play low, and South should let the eight ride as a finesse.

This finesse loses to the ten of diamonds, but then dummy can win the rest of the diamonds by leading out the ace, the nine, and then the five. Four diamond tricks are enough to guarantee the slam.

Declarer had enough aces, kings, and queens to bid the slam but lost it in the play by wasting a lowly eight-spot.

Daily Question

Dealer, at your left, bids one spade and partner doubles. The next player passes, and you hold: S J 9 8 6 H 8 5 4 D 10 7 4 3 C Q 8. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds. Partner has asked you to bid your best suit (other than spades), and you must do so. The weaker your hand the more essential the takeout.

Lucy Baines To Visit Friend On UW Campus

MADISON (AP) — President Johnson's 16-year-old daughter Lucy Baines, is scheduled to visit a University of Wisconsin student Wednesday and freshman Jack Olson expects her call to be "a lot of fun."

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary for Mrs. Johnson, said that Miss Johnson would arrive here Wednesday to visit Olson, an 18-year-old chemistry student from Maiden Rock, Wis.

Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Olson who live in the Pierce County community of 186 persons, met Miss Johnson while he was a congressional page in Washington.

Olson was her escort for the International Ball in Washington last November. He also spent the Thanksgiving Holiday with the first family in Washington and visited the Johnson's LBJ ranch in Texas last month.

No Special Plans
Mrs. Carpenter said Miss Johnson would arrive by plane, tour the campus and meet Olson's friends. No special party plans have been made, Mrs. Carpenter said.

She said Miss Johnson would be met by Dr. and Mrs. James Cain, longtime Texas friends of the Johnson family. The Cains judged on poise, personality and community service.

Entry blanks may be obtained from Red Owl Stores, Inc., and Accredited Schools of Beauty Culture. Area semi-finals will be held the week of Feb. 24 at Madison, Milwaukee, Green Bay, Kaukauna and Lake Geneva.

Your Problems

Artist, Ann Think Portrait Should be Good Reproduction

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The grand old man of our family passed away several months ago at the age of 82. Uncle Cy left 64 descendants and he was loved by each and every one of us.

The family wants to have an oil portrait of Uncle Cy painted by a fine artist who works from photographs. We plan to present this portrait to Uncle Cy's widow on her 80th birthday. Please help us settle a question which has produced some strong differences of opinion.

Uncle Cy had a prominent scar on the side of his face—the result of a wound he received in World War I. He also had a blood blister on his lip. Some of the relatives want the artist to leave off the scar and the blood blister. They feel it would be indelicate to have these abnormalities reproduced. The artist does not agree. May we have your opinion? It will be the deciding one.—Go Between

Dear Go: A portrait should be a faithful interpretation of what the artist sees. This means scar, blood blister—the whole bit.

Abraham Lincoln was once faced with a similar decision. When Lincoln sat for his official portrait his wife did not want the artist to show the wart on Lincoln's face. Lincoln insisted that the artist paint him as he saw him—and he did—wart and all.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl 14 who has ten problems—my fingernails. I have bitten them ever since I can remember. No amount of shaming can get me to stop. Yet I'm so self-conscious about my nails that I keep my fingers turned in so nobody can see them. I wear gloves whenever I can.

Before an exam my fingers are actually sore because I bite my nails down so close. I envy my girl friends who have lovely nails and I'd give anything if I could let mine grow. I've heard of some bitter-tasting stuff that can be bought in a drug store. It is applied like polish and is supposed to stop nail-biting. Does it work? What about artificial nails? They are expensive but it would be worth a month's allowance if I could break the habit. Please give me some advice.—Ten Troubles

Dear Troubles: Nail-biting is a symptom of nervousness. You have cited the evidence by describing what happens to your nails before an exam.

The bitter-tasting stuff you buy at the drug-store, or the artificial nails may be helpful temporarily, but if you want to kick the habit you'll have to go to work on whatever it is that makes you nervous.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May-be you can help. Our 21-year-old daughter is planning to be married next summer. Loretta is our only child and we want so much for her to be happy.

The problem is this: Loretta's fiancé is of a different faith. Her father and I are upset about this, but we have accepted it. We are not insisting that he change for her, but I can't say the same about HIS parents. They are forever hammering at Loretta—trying to get her to change for him.

Loretta has started to go to church with them but he refuses to come to church with us. She loves him so much we think she will finally accept his faith to please him. This means our grandchildren will be brought up in their religion. This breaks our hearts.

What advice do you have for her, Ann?—Upset Parents

Dear Upset Parents: I have no advice for her since she didn't ask. But I do have some advice for you, since you wrote. Stay out of it. When I am asked for an opinion on this subject I always advise people to marry within their own faith. Marriage has enough problems without complicating it with this one.

Some mixed marriages have been known to work out well but they are the exceptions. Of course those who try it think they are going to beat the odds—but they rarely do.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

A lovely writes: In mid-December I sent a gift to a friend in a distant city and I haven't heard a word from her. The package was mailed directly from my local store. Should I put a store tracer on it, or should I write my friend a letter of inquiry? Checking up with her seems rude. What is the right thing to do?

The Answer: Many of us find ourselves on the horns of that dilemma. To place a tracer on a gift at its source, until its others—is the basis of all courteous procedures. A woman who keeps that principle in mind need have no fear of giving offense.

Mother Asks on What Basis College Should be Decided

Dear Dr. Jones:
My son is ready to apply for college entrance, but he doesn't know how to decide which colleges to apply to. We can afford a high tuition, but all the inexpensive colleges sound as good as the others, judging from the catalogues. The only thing we are agreed on is that he ought to go away from home, but otherwise we are completely at sea. What basis should we use in order to make a decision? Mr. T.R.

Dr. Jones is that he ought to go away from home, but otherwise we are completely at sea. What basis should we use in order to make a decision? Mr. T.R.

You're wise to take a rational approach to your son's selection of college, for this is the first of his major decisions that will probably shape the rest of his life. First rough out some general guidelines by writing down your son's real preferences for the kind of school he'd like to attend. Don't get sidetracked with thoughts about what he ought to want. Stick to deciding what he really likes, as he is right now. Does he like big city life or a small town?

A school with a definite religious affiliation and required religious practice or none? Large classes or small? Big campuses with many students or small schools? Coeducation or a men's school? Required dormitory residence or not? Taking into consideration how far from home he'll be at vacation times and the kind of athletic activities he likes, is there a favored geographical location? He'll do better where he can feel reasonably comfortable about all these matters.

Then, if he has some specific career choice in mind, add that to the list, although most colleges offer reasonably similar opportunities for both a liberal arts education and some specialization in the four years of undergraduate work.

Next, talk with the college counselor at your son's high school and check these preferences against the lists of schools that your son's grades make him eligible for. Aim for the schools with the highest academic qualifications he can meet—he'll get the best education where the majority of his fellow students offer him equal competition.

Ask the counselor to use the knowledge the high school possesses about your son's student behavior to narrow the choices down to about six schools. Decide in advance that he'll attend the one that first sends him a definite acceptance. After that, it's all over except for the applications and fees and tests and interviews, and the tensions as he waits for the decisions of the colleges.

SO GOOD SO MANY WAYS!

Nehru's Daughter Seeks To Lessen Pressures

BY HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's illness increases the importance of the woman at his side, Mrs. Indira Gandhi.

As Nehru's only child and closest companion, the 46-year-old widow has long supervised the living habits of the 74-year-old widower in an effort to protect his health.

Since a new sickness struck Nehru 10 days ago she has sought to increase her effectiveness as his buffer against the world. Nehru must be spared the kind of excitement that the pressing problems of India often create for him.

Mrs. Gandhi warns the few top officials who see Nehru not to tell him of some things. When the Calcutta religious violence began last week she kept him at first and later tried to get home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda to keep discussion of the subject brief.

Nanda and Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari have taken over Nehru's routine duties as a temporary arrangement.

Doctors have ordered Nehru to rest for a month or more and they reportedly do not expect to be able to allow him to resume his hard-driving schedule of the past.

This situation has created the possibility of a deputy prime minister. Here too, Mrs. Gandhi is important.

She has always said she has no political ambitions. Retirement to social work in some small town would be more to her liking, Mrs. Gandhi insists.

Nonetheless she is much discussed as a possible successor to her father. Some Indian political observers dismiss the idea as impossible. Others are not so sure.

Solely because she is her father's daughter, Mrs. Gandhi has been prominent in Indian politics since 1955. She then became a member of the working committee that runs the mammoth Congress Party, Nehru's political machine that dominates the Indian scene.

Overwhelming Support In 1955 and early 1960 Mrs. Gandhi was president of the party. At a party meeting last week in Bhubaneswar she was re-elected to the working committee with the highest number of votes.

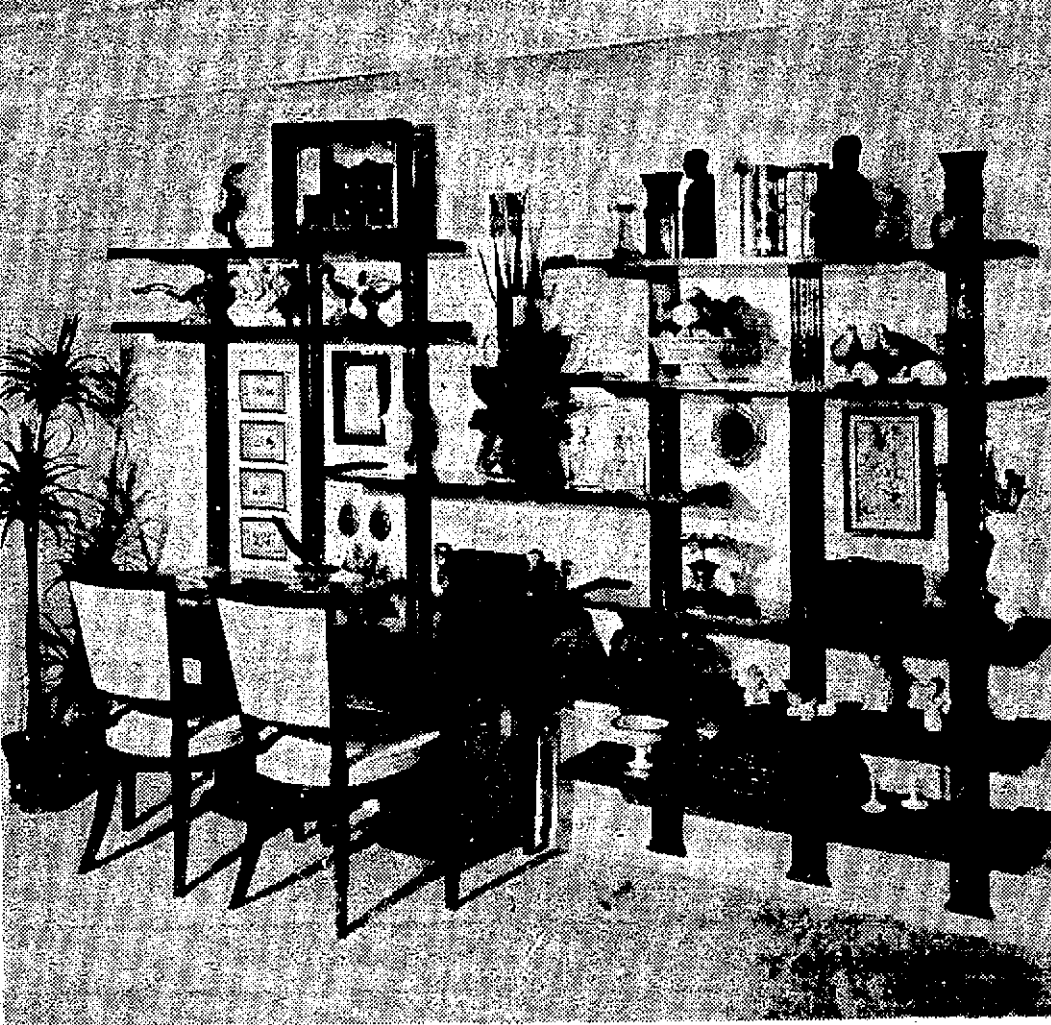

Nehru, whose health has been declining for almost two years because of what is believed to be prostate trouble, with a related kidney ailment, was stricken in Bhubaneswar.

Mrs. Gandhi moved in. The prime minister's illness had one silver lining, Mrs. Gandhi told party delegates: Nehru was now forced to listen to her and his doctor's advice.

She and the doctors had been seeking unsuccessfully to slow Nehru earlier. Since his last illness began Nehru has been resting.

The man who never seemed to have enough time to handle all the official matters that he wanted personally to control now sits in the sun reading novels.

His attitude towards his daughter's future role is unknown. Some stories have circulated that he definitely wants to keep the prime minister's job in the family. Other accounts said Nehru remained silent when a party leader asked a few days ago about Mrs. Gandhi as a possibility to relieve him of some of the work.

One widely mentioned idea is for her to take over Nehru's additional job as foreign minister since she has traveled widely representing India abroad.

Not Strong Personality Indira, as most Indians refer to her, lacks personality for a national leader in her own right. Forceful in private, occasionally even fiery, she seems flat and dull in public appearances.

She takes after her mother, a typical example of shyly retiring Indian womanhood, who died three decades ago, rather than having her father's extroverted personality.

Mrs. Gandhi's husband was Firoze Gandhi. An independent-minded politician, he was no kin to Mohandas K. Gandhi, the leader of the Indian freedom movement and the moving spirit behind Nehru's idealism.

One of Mrs. Gandhi's sons, Rajiv, 19, is studying mechanical engineering at Cambridge. The other one, Sanjaya, 17, is here awaiting the results of his

But she adds: "I am anti-communist." Cases of her seeming influence on Nehru in the past substantiate this.

Painting Red Brick Fireplace

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I would like to have a natural red brick fireplace painted white. Are there any disadvantages to this? Is a special type paint needed?

A: The only disadvantage of painting the brick is that, once painted, the porous nature of brick will make future paint removal difficult if not impossible. In other words, the brick will have to remain painted.

Use either a resin emulsion paint, or a cement base paint. If the latter is used, dampen the brick thoroughly before applying the paint. Be sure the brick surface is absolutely clean and free of any trace of wax, grease, etc., before applying any coating.

Q: We have a problem with our basement walls. They have been painted with a mixture of white portland cement and lime. Over this is a coat of yellow interior latex paint. We are experiencing large areas of white blotches, possibly where the walls have become wet. What shall we paint the walls with?

A: This is probably the condition known as efflorescence; this is leaching of salts from masonry, which are deposited on the surface as moisture passes through the masonry. The salts and water could be carried through a "breathing" type paint without causing the paint to scale.

The deposit should be brushed off the surface, and the wall surface treated with a solution of one part muriatic acid in 5 to 10 parts of water, then thoroughly rinsed with clear water. Because of the corrosive nature of the acid, be sure to wear heavy work clothing, rubber gloves, goggles to protect the eyes. The source of the moisture in the walls should be located and eliminated.

An excellent leaflet on "Painting Concrete" is available free from your local Portland Cement Association office, or from their headquarters at 33 West Grand Ave., Chicago 10.

Q: Our mobile home has birch panel on all walls. Would you suggest something to clean them and also to polish them?

A: A white, creamy, clean-up wax, made by a nationally known manufacturer is widely available at supermarkets, variety, housewares and hardware stores. This will both clean and polish the birch surface. While removing surface grease and grime, the wax leaves a protective coating to prevent soil penetration.

TAFFY'S TIPS

HOME ON TIME

An afternoon at someone's house ends long before the dinner bell rings and an evening call collapses before your friend's mother goes to the door to put out the cat. The best rule to remember is when you arrive, say to the lady of the house, "My mother would like me home about 5 p.m. Would you please remind me at that hour in case I forget? And when you're reminded, don't spend another thirty minutes getting your belongings together, but say a cheerful goodbye to all, scout out the door and homeward bound.

Driver Education Details Answered

The Wisconsin Council of Safety and three state agencies have begun distribution of a leaflet designed to answer questions about driver education in Wisconsin.

The council prepared the leaflet in cooperation with the Motor Vehicle Department, the Department of Public Instruction and the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

According to William Richards, supervisor of driver education for the Department of Public Instruction, the leaflet was developed to explain the essential facts about driver education and help clarify the role of this course in school curriculums.

Transfers to New State Building Yields Legislator Offices Space

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Legislators are privately surprised about the generosity of space arrangements worked out for them by the state department of administration as a result of the opening of the huge new state office building on the west side of the city.

Because so many major departments are being transferred to the new building, there is actually a surplus of space, in comparative terms, in the state capitol proper in down-town Madison. As a result, almost every member of the legislature, of whatever rank, will have a quasi-private office facilities in the future and most of those of rank will have private rooms.

The physical accommodations will be the most comfortable ever provided for Wisconsin lawmakers. Housekeeping arrangements will be improved also, with more space for stenographers and other assistants, better communications systems, and even a plush new red carpet in each house.

For years statehouse correspondents have asked for a press work room, after the standard practice in other public buildings of any size, but without result. Now such a facility is being offered by the legislative leadership, apparently because space has suddenly become so abundant.

Completion of the big new state government office building has up-rooted more than 2,400 state officers and employees, and will cause some inconveniences for those private citizens who occasionally come to Madison to deal with state agencies.

There will be a good deal more travel involved for such visitors, on the capital city streets which are not always intelligible to non-residents.

The man who comes to Madison to consult his legislative representative, for example, and at the same time wants to pay a call upon the highway commission and the motor vehicle department, will spend half a dozen cab fares, or a good deal of time searching for parking spaces if he drives his own vehicle.

Highway Safety

Gubernatorial candidates of both parties will emphasize highway safety in their campaigns this year and are already working up proposals for new legislation in the field.

Whether they will be able to devise any new propositions with any palatability will be watched by the anxious professional workers in the field who have found the legislature indifferent to most of their own recommendations lately.

The safety issue remains a solemn one, as morbid statistics so eloquently show. But there has been little progress made in gathering public backing for some of the radical approaches that now appear necessary to make a dent in the gruesome death and property loss record.

Some die-hard opponents of the highway bonding referendum scheduled for the April election are talking about a legal challenge of the validity of the referendum action voted by the legislature in November.

A legal advisor of one of the opposition groups has offered his opinion that the referendum act is illegal because it was done by the legislature without the approval of the governor — although he conceded that other legislatures in the past have authorized such referendums in the same way.

Bi-Partisan Tour

The agreement of Lt. Gov. Jack Olson, Republican, to accompany Gov. John W. Reynolds, Democrat, on the Wisconsin trade mission to western Europe in March may counteract the claims of Republicans about problems of divided leadership in the statehouse, according to some Democrats.

Warren Knowles, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, has said that one of the main issues in the state government as he sees it is the indecision and stalemate resulting from partisan division in the controlling offices.

Speaker Robert Haase of the state assembly, in an unguarded moment the other day, betrayed the fact that he expects to be a member of the assembly again next year.

Haase is campaigning for support of Republicans as a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. But the other day he asked the department of administration to adjust the telephone communications system in the assembly chamber so he could converse from the speaker's rostrum with the minority leader of the house, as well as the majority leader.

Delinquent Commitments 2a head Some observant officials are starting to worry about the probability of early over-crowding in the new institutions for care and training of male juvenile delinquents. The commitment rate has been so much higher than expected there is already quiet planning going on for enlargement of the new institutions near Plymouth and at Waukesha opened only a few years ago.

When Wilbur Renk announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator, he complained that Sen. William Proxmire, his Democratic foe, cannot decide whether he is a liberal or a conservative in his views.

Whereupon Renk was asked to describe his own ideological position and he replied: "I guess you'd say that I was a moderate."

Question Change In Edison School Electrical Plans

The electrical consultant to the architects for the proposed Einstein Junior High School has warned the Appleton Board of Education that he disagrees with two changes it approved in the electrical plans.

Gordon Armbruster of Armbruster Engineering asked the board to give him a letter relieving him of any responsibility for the two items changed. The board said Armbruster's firm is employed by Sauler and Seaborn Architects, who designed the school, and not by the board. It referred the matter to the architects.

The two changes questioned by Armbruster were omission of half the specified interference suppressors per light fixture, and substitution of polystyrene lens for acrylic plastic in certain fixtures.

He advised the board that this is a misapplication of the suppressor and limits its effectiveness, and that the change of plastic composition of the lens will provide reason for accelerated yellowing of the lens, accompanied by poor color rendition, over a period of time.

The changes were approved by the board upon the suggestion of the architects, and meant a saving of about $5,200. The board trimmed items costing a total of $71,869 from plans for the $1,870,000 junior high school.

Police Demoralized By Ticket Fixing

Judge Keller Says Arrests Should Be Screened Before Court Trial

Ticket fixing is demoralizing to a policeman, Outagamie County Judge, Gustave Keller said today, but there must be some judgment made on arrests before the violation is brought before the courts.

Judge Keller was asked to comment today on the recent exposures of fixing practices in Milwaukee County. The judge said the Milwaukee police department has long been highly regarded throughout the country, and the fixing "scandal" will not alter its reputation.

"I've always maintained," Judge Keller said, "all arrests

Church Plans Capital Fund Raising Drive

Building Planned By Memorial Presbyterian

Memorial Presbyterian Church, Appleton, is planning a capital fund drive this year to raise money for construction of a new church.

John E. Somerville Associates Inc., Green Bay architects, has been hired to design the new church. A building committee of 15 has been appointed from the congregation to work with the architects.

The building will cost an estimated $300,000 to $350,000. Construction is not expected to start this year. If the fund drive is successful, construction will be started as soon as possible, said the Rev. Clifford J. Peterson, pastor.

It has not been decided whether the capital fund drive will be held in late spring or next fall. A goal has not been set because a final cost estimate is not available yet.

New Site
The congregation has purchased a new site at E. College Avenue and S. Meade Street. The site has a frontage of 180 feet and extends from College to Alton Street on the east side of Meade.

A three-year campaign to raise funds to pay for the property has been completed. About $60,000 was raised.

The congregation purchased four houses, two with double lots, on its new church site. One is now being used as the parsonage. The houses will be razed eventually.

When the new church is completed, the present church building and Drew House will be sold. The present church site is on E. College Avenue and S. Drew Street.

A sanctuary to seat 350 persons and an educational unit to serve 300 Sunday school children at one time are planned for the new building.

A tentative timetable calls for construction to start in 1965 and be completed in early 1966.

Driver Loses Control Of Car, Strikes Pole

KIMBERLY — Over $250 damage was reported and the driver of a car advised to see a doctor after an accident at Maes Avenue and Washington Street about 1:40 a.m. Monday, according to village police.

A car driven by Henry F. Hoffman, 32, 540 N. Union St., Appleton, was making a right turn from Washington onto Maes when he lost control of the car and struck a power pole.

60-Hour Operation

World's Largest Cheese Will Be Ready for Fair Thursday

BY RAY PAGEL

DENMARK — About noon Thursday, Steven Suidzinski should be able to relax momentarily.

By that time, after a 60-hour around the clock operation, the world's biggest cheddar cheese should be safely encased in its sturdy curing tub.

Suidzinski, owner of Steve's Cheese Co. at Lange's corners, just northwest of here, is producing the cheese for a two-year stand at the New York World's Fair.

Construction of the mammoth cheddar block — calculated to weigh 34,561 pounds — began a few minutes after midnight. By 5 a.m. today, a 2.7 inch layer of the golden product was spread over the bottom of the tub, with 65.3 inches to go.

More than 25 batches of cheese will be processed in the plant's four vats. One by one, they will be spread and packed into the tub measuring 14 1/2 feet long, 6 1/2 feet wide and five feet, eight inches high.

375,000 Pounds Milk
Movie cameramen were present to record the event.

Suidzinski said the huge cheese will require 375,000 pounds of milk — 187 1/2 tons.

Four neighboring dairy plants, besides Steve's, are supplying the milk. Another is on stand-by.

Besides Steve's own crew, some 25 other cheesemakers are on the job. They'll work eight-hour shifts or less, depending on the time they can spare from their regular jobs.

Suidzinski has a national reputation for turning out big cheese; but this is by far his biggest. His previous record was a 15,085-pounder made about four years ago. It was used in a California supermarket promotion for the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture.

the Charles Pfizer and Co., arrived Monday to lend technical assistance. Wilson is widely known as a cheese judge. Hales is an expert on chemicals involved in cheese making.

It is planned to transport the cheddar to New York City in April. Meanwhile, it will be cured at the Steve's Cheese Co. plant by a specially-constructed refrigeration unit.

The cheese will be on display at the World's Fair through Sept. 15. It will be taken on a tour around the country through the fall, winter and spring before being returned to the fair for a second year.

Carting the 17 1/2 ton cheese posed engineering problems seldom encountered in the food industry. The Ford Motor Co. is donating a diesel tractor to provide the power, and Highway Trailer of Edgerton is providing the trailer. The refrigeration unit is being donated by Thermo King of Minneapolis.

The Borden Co. has agreed to purchase the cheese after the two-year showing. It is anticipated the firm will use it for a special promotion.

A substantial portion of the financial outlay required will come from $35,000 appropriated for the project by the Wisconsin Legislature. The State Department of Agriculture and the State Conservation Department are administering the fund.

From the beginning, there has been a detectable struggle in the council between the progressives and conservatives, Haselden said. Although it is not accurate to say the curia is all extremely reactionary, there is a sizable reactionary bloc within it, he added.

There is some geographical basis for progressivism or conservatism, Haselden claimed. A great many of the progressives come from Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, England and the United States, while among the reactionaries are the Italian, Spanish and Portuguese, he said.

Progressives have the voting strength in the council, while the conservatives have the strategic strength, with powerful representation in the curia and committees.

Methodists Plan Appleton Building Start

St. James Group to Begin $140,000 Unit in Late Spring

St. James Methodist Church will start construction this spring of the first unit of its church building program.

Work will start in May or June on a permanent fellowship hall and partial education unit, costing an estimated $140,000. The master plan calls for a church sanctuary to be built later.

The building will be erected on a five-acre site on W. Capitol Drive and N. Oneida St. It will contain a 40 by 66 foot fellowship hall, which will seat 300 and be used temporarily for worship services; a library, church office, minister's office, kitchen, utility room, rest rooms and four church school classrooms.

It is hoped construction will be completed by December. Steffen and Kemp Architects, Wauwatosa, designed the building.

The Rev. James Vahey, pastor, said the master building plan will provide for an eventual congregation of 800. The congregation now has about 185 members.

The St. James congregation was organized in 1960 as an offshoot of the First Methodist Church. It has rented worship facilities in the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

A special campaign to raise funds for the building program is planned by the church from Feb. 2 to 9.

Seidl is one of four Appleton residents who recently received notices from the building inspector giving them 30 days to conform to zoning where they are presently located.

The alternative would be to relocate, or request rezoning. The block in which Seidl has his home, garage and operates the ambulance service has single family residences. Appleton Man's Quick Action Averts Serious Fire at Cleaning Firm

A laundromat customer who smelled smoke and found a box of combustible materials burning in the boiler room prevented serious fire damage Monday night to the Norge Village, 800 W. Wisconsin Ave.

Ernest Feavel, 721 N. Mason St., told Appleton police he carried the burning material from the store room, then put out the fire with a bucket of water. The store room had been locked, but Feavel summoned a laundromat employee who unlocked the door. Feavel burned his fingers in the process.

Firemen called to the scene said oily air filters stored near hot steam pipes started on fire and the fire spread to a box of sweeping compound.

Appleton firemen were called Monday to the Roy Richter home, 927 W. Winnebago St. where dripping grease had started on fire while Mrs. Richter was cooking about 5:30 p.m. Mrs. Richter threw water on the burning grease which made flames worse, firemen said.

He declined to name the third man involved, saying only that he also was a former head coach in the NFL.

Wolman said the Eagles expected to decide on their new coach sometime during next week's league meeting in Miami Beach.

Skorich's three-year contract expired last week.

The 36-year-old Washington building contractor was given unanimous approval as New Eagle owner by the owners of the 13 other NFL clubs. He needed the vote of at least 11 to officially become holder of the Eagle franchise, which stockholders voted to sell him for $5,505,500 Dec. 5.

Snow News Good News

Brownson Unhappy Over Lack of Snow to be Cleared Off Roads

Clarence Brownson, Outagamie County highway commissioner, hasn't got much snow to push around this year and he's unhappy about it.

"It's all right for most people," Brownson said today when asked to comment on the premature spring weather enjoyed throughout the state, "but I've got a department to run here."

Brownson's complaints stem from the fact his entire highway department is "geared" for heavy winter operations, and the absence of the major commodity — snow, presents quite a problem.

Costs Money

"In the first place," Brownson said, "it's costing me money to have heavy equipment not being used on a daily basis. We've got the plows, but they are just sitting there — depreciating."

Brownson said his full winter complement of employees — normally are kept busy this time of year keeping the highways free of snow — are patching roadways, riding patrol and doing other unseasonal duties around the county garages.

One very important factor with the absence of snow, according to Brownson, is the lack of the revenue which snowplowing brings to the highway department's machinery budget.

Leaves Bills

The department levies bills for plowing of county, township and state roadways. The revenue from these operations are placed into the department's machinery fund which is used to replace worn out equipment.

But, no snow, and no plowing means no revenues, and Brownson is very much afraid it will also mean no new machinery when the time for replacement comes.

The department has used one heavy-duty snow plow so far this winter, Brownson said, but there has been no call for any other equipment. One week ago a plow was called to Dale to assist in plowing a "freak" local area snowstorm.

The county has hired the services of a weather forecaster, but, according to Brownson, the observers have not been asked to make long-range predictions on the weather to see if there isn't some hint the weather will shift.

Decision to be Made Soon on Including Slough in Survey

NEENAH — Whether Neenah's slough problem will be included in a state survey of the Fox - Wolf River Basins will be dependent in large measure upon the decisions of Walter Johnson, state planner and a deputy director of the state's department of Resource and Development.

In a letter to Mayor Carl E. Loehning, Frank P. Zeidler, department director, said that Johnson will contact the mayor soon to discuss the possibilities of including the slough trouble in the engineering study of the Fox and Wolf River Basins.

At the Jan. 15 session the council directed the mayor and city clerk to contact Zeidler and find out if the slough could be covered in the study.

The survey is both state and federally supported and Neenah desires to be included in the study.

Speculation is that if the study indicated a need for improvement, a joint - federal, state and local project would be effected with proportional support of the work by all three factions.

If a project were ordered and the slough was included in the work, Neenah would most likely be able to get state and federal aid for a slough clean up project.

Such a project would certainly get city and council support, Loehning said today.

Hortonville Board Will Option Test Well Site

No Action on Request to Inject Chemical Into Water; Board Appointments Approved

HORTONVILLE—The village board has decided to take an option on property owned by Raymond Gartlin for use as a test well site.

If rest drilling produces an adequate water supply the property will be purchased by the village.

Once necessary legal papers are completed, Glass and Donaldson, village engineers, will prepare specifications and well drilling bids will be accepted. The entire village water supply comes from one well.

A rusty water problem on S. Nash Street also was discussed by the board. An application requesting permission to put polyphosphate in the water main was submitted in October, 1963. There has been no action on the village's request.

The Alexander Chemical Co. also has sought unsuccessfully to put the chemical in the main. The chemical would suspend iron particles in the water.

Studying Capacity

A Glass and Donaldson representative reported to the board that along with the test well project, the firm also is studying the capacity of the sewage treatment plant.

Five appointments to the free public library commission were made by Board President Raymond Warner. The five named were on the library board but for only one-year terms. Renamed to three-year terms were Lawrence Moder, George Akim and Berdine Collar. Norma Ziehm was appointed to a two-year term and Gertrude Diester, one-year term.

An advance of $15,000 was made to the Hortonville Community Schools. A calculator was purchased for use by the village clerk. Community hall basement rental was increased

Neenah Assured Of at Least Three Mayor Candidates

Loehning and Coenen Join Bazata in April Election

NEENAH — Neenah will have at least a three way race for mayor in the April elections as Mayor Carl E. Loehning filed his nomination papers Tuesday, and Ald. Carl B. Coenen, 649 Wilson St., took out and filed his papers Monday.

Coenen's Sixth Ward alderman position, also up for election, already has one official candidate as Robert J. DeWald filed the papers today for that position.

In other Neenah election action Dale A. Ramich, 419 Sherry St., Neenah, became the fifth possible candidate for Fourth Ward alderman when he took out papers today.

Coenen, a braider operator for Kimberly-Clark Corp., has been on the council for six years.

Loehning has served as full term mayor for the past two years and as part time mayor from 1950 to '58. Previously he served as alderman for 19 years.

Could be Four
The third official candidate for Neenah's top post is Frank Bazata. Wilmer R. Fahrbach, has taken out papers for the mayor position but has not filed them.

Thus far the race, Fourth Ward alderman has five possible candidates although only one, incumbent Wilnot Houpt, has filed his nomination papers.

There are only incumbent candidates for alderman in the Second and 10th Wards, while the race in the Eighth Ward has two possible candidates with incumbent Don Kuehneman the only to file so far. The Ninth Ward race also has two candidates for alderman with incumbent Sydney Donaldson having filed his papers.

The other political contests in Neenah remained static over the past 24 hours with eight possible candidates for the school board, and one filed candidate each in the county supervisor races in the First, Second, Fourth, Sixth and Ninth Wards.

Only two school board candidates, George V. Skowronski and John Arnold, have filed papers.

All told Neenah has 29 possible candidates for 15 available positions, of which 16 have filed their papers.

Woman, 90, Fatally Hurt In Accident

Neenah Pedestrian Walks Into Side Of Dump Truck

NEENAH — A 90 year old Neenah woman was killed at 2:58 p.m. Monday when she apparently walked into a dump truck at the intersection of W. Wisconsin Avenue and Church Street, Neenah.

Mrs. Ottillia Hanson, 124 1/2 Franklin Ave., Neenah, was pronounced dead on arrival at The Clark Memorial Hospital following the accident. She was taken there by Neenah Fire Department ambulance.

According to police reports, a Popp Concrete Products Co. dump truck, driven by Andrew W. Sarnowski, 46, 477 Nicolet Blvd., Neenah, was turning right off of Church Street onto W. Wisconsin Avenue when Mrs. Hanson walked into the side of the truck.

The incident occurred just off of the northwest corner of the intersection.

Witness
A witness told police that Mrs. Hanson had first crossed Church Street from east to west and in doing so walked in front of the dump truck.

He said that she then began walking south across W. Wisconsin Avenue on the west side of the intersection as the truck began its turn.

Mrs. Hanson, according to the witness, walked into the truck, although he was unable to determine whether it was the front or side of the truck.

County Coroner Arthur Miller was called. After investigation he indicated there would be no inquest. Death was due to severe head injuries.

The last traffic fatality in Neenah occurred on July 13, 1963 when a Neenah man and woman were killed in a one car accident on S. Park Avenue.

Mrs. Hanson was born Jan. 7, 1874 in Oshkosh and was a Neenah resident since 1924. She was a graduate of the Mercy School of Nursing in Chicago and married Martin P. Hanson, operator of a Neenah clothing store, in 1924. He died in 1944. She was a member of St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, the Sanctuary Society and Catholic Daughters. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday at the Westgor Funeral Home and at 10 a.m. at St. Margaret Mary Church. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Thursday. The Catholic Daughters rosary will be recited at 7 p.m. and the general rosary at 8 p.m. Several nieces and nephews survive.

British Speed Troops, Carrier To Tanganyika

African Country
Calms Down After
Military Mutiny

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE
LONDON (AP) — Britain rushed nearly 2,000 troops and an aircraft carrier to Tanganyika's borders today but the situation in the new African nation appeared to be calming following an army mutiny.

A brief Associated Press dispatch from Dar es Salaam, the Tanganyikan capital, said a government information officer had announced that President Julius Nyerere was safe and would broadcast to the nation today.

Nyerere was reported at his official residence in Dar es Salaam.

Curfew in Effect
Diplomatic reports trickling into London said the Tanganyikan capital was calm but under military curfew and the rebellious 1st Battalion of the Tanganyika Rifles, the country's army, apparently had taken over from the police.

The reports said at least 14 persons were killed and 120 injured in Monday's mutiny, triggered by resentment over low pay and delay in replacing British officers commanding military forces of the two-year-old commonwealth nation.

No white casualties were mentioned, and the victims were all believed to be African or Asian. Many were believed to be Indian owners of shops and bazzars that were looted during the disorders.

Americans Safe
The British Broadcasting Corporation said in its 7 a.m. broadcast that all was reported quiet during the night in Dar es Salaam.

The U.S. State Department said all Americans in Tanganyika—estimated at about 1,300—were reported safe. They include 165 U.S. government employees working in the embassy, the U.S. Information Service and the Peace Corps.

The mutiny, coming only a week after the leftist coup on the nearby island of Zanzibar, brought quick British action to protect the 5,000 British citizens in Tanganyika.

Dar es Salaam Radio said Lt. Elisha Kavama took command, presumably replacing Brig. Patrick Sholto-Douglas, senior British officer of the contingent which has been training and commanding the native force.

Judge Lynch denied defense attorney Edward W. Schall's motion to set aside or reduce the sentence Monday.

Schall said he would appeal and ask a stay of the lashing, scheduled for Jan. 28.

Johnson Proposes To Halt Output of Nuclear Vehicles

Sends Special Message to Arms Conference at Geneva

BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
GENEVA (AP) — President Johnson proposed to the Soviet Union today a program freezing the production of nuclear delivery vehicles.

Presenting his proposal in a special message sent to the resumption of the 17-nation disarmament conference here, Johnson asked the Russians to join in a new program to halt the nuclear arms race and to prevent a new world war.

The President's program, including a world treaty to outlaw the use or threat of force in international disputes, was read by U.S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster.

Besides the freeze on the production of nuclear delivery vehicles, Johnson proposed the shutdown of all reactors producing nuclear materials for weapons, and a system of observation posts to prevent surprise attack or accidental war.

Johnson also urged a special agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to additional countries and to ban the underground nuclear tests unaffected by Moscow test ban treaty.

The conference resumed after a five-month recess.

Other points in Johnson program:

1. A discussion of the "means of prohibiting the threat or use of force, directly or indirectly—whether by aggression, subversion, or the clandestine supply of arms—to change boundaries or demarcation lines."

2. The powers should attempt to develop "a verified agree-

Says He Gave Stereo Set to Johnson in '59

WASHINGTON (AP)—A local insurance agent has sworn to Senate investigators that in 1959 he gave a stereo set costing over $500 to Lyndon B. Johnson at the suggestion of former Senate and Robert G. Baker.

President Johnson at that time was the Senate Democratic leader and Baker was secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

The story of the gift of the stereo set was told to the Senate Rules Committee in a closed session by Don B. Reynolds, who described Baker as associated with his insurance agency. The committee made the testimony public today.

Reynolds said he paid $542.25 for the stereo set and another $42.50 to have it installed in Johnson's home.

Reynolds also told about a $200,000 insurance policy issued on Johnson's life.

Along with the transcript of Reynolds' testimony, the committee made public a statement from Walter Jenkins, a close associate of the President's, saying he was informed that "the alleged gift of a record player to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson... was a present from Robert G. Baker."

Murrow Resigns; Rowan Named USIA Director

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edward R. Murrow resigned today as director of the U.S. Information Agency and is being replaced by Carl Rowan, who will become the highest-ranking Negro in government.

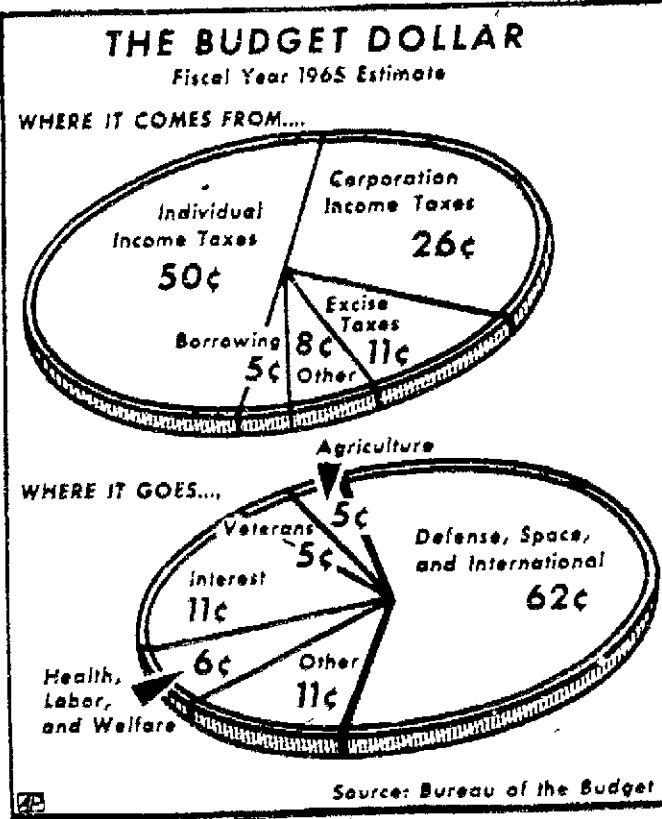

President Johnson announced Murrow's resignation, which was tendered because of the need for a long convalescence from lung cancer surgery Johnson said he accepted the resignation "with the greatest reluctance."

Rowan, now ambassador to Finland, is a former newspaperman who was deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs before going to Finland.

As USIA director, Rowan will become the first Negro ever to sit in meetings of the National Security Council.

U. S., Russia to Use Echo 2 in Joint Test

BY RALPH DIGHTON

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The world's largest man-made moonlet is scheduled for launching Thursday, and if orbitted it could open a new era of scientific cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

U.S. space agency officials say this country and Russia have agreed to use the 135-foot diameter balloon, to be called Echo 2, for their first joint experiments in talking via satellite.

Agree On Experiment
The United States and Russia agreed last August to use Echo 2 as an experiment in communications via satellite, bouncing radio signals off its reflective surface and picking them up at ground stations. A spokesman said this would be the first time for the two powers to talk via satellite. No date for the transmissions has been set.

The signals, on a frequency of 162 megacycles, may carry voices, audible tones, telegraphic code or facsimile pictures.

The Russians are not participating in the launching of the satellite, but they may attempt to track it by military radar.

During the course of its expected lifetime, Echo 2 will be seen from all parts of Russia.

Pinpoint of Light
Echo 2 is expected to be visible in this country for the first time late Thursday, when it crosses the Eastern states on its sixth trip around the globe about 10 hours after launch.

If the skies are clear, it will be seen as a pinpoint of light moving from south to north. The satellite has no internal illumination but can be seen when struck by rays from the sun below the horizon.

Western states should be able to see the moonlet about 12 hours after launch, on its seventh pass around the earth.

Launching is scheduled between 5:11 a.m. and 6:14 a.m. (8:11 a.m. and 9:14 a.m. Eastern Standard Time).

Dirksen Skeptical,
Mansfield Lauds
'Tight' Figures

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats generally applauded President Johnson's $97.9 billion budget today, calling it tight and realistic.

Republicans appeared to view it with the skepticism of an audience at a magic show.

"I'm intrigued by how so much more can be undertaken by the federal government in so many quarters with so much less money," said Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

He suggested that Johnson may have to employ "some legerdemain" to finance the programs he proposed and still hold spending below this year's

Dirksen said Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon had testified in October that the New Year's deficit would be likely to run $9 billion.

Praise From Mansfield
"But by some automation, computers and calculators we are now told the administration will do more with less and come up with a deficit half of that amount," he said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said, however, that the President's estimates represent a "tight" budget with

Canadian Leader Tries to Patch U. S., Paris Rift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson is expected to talk with President Johnson during a visit beginning today about the possibility of finding ways to improve relations between Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The outlook for closer ties between Paris and Washington, as U.S. officials see the situation, is dark at the moment especially because of the recent decision by De Gaulle to recognize Communist China.

France, Germany in Winebarrel Tempest

MAINZ, Germany (AP) — A sort of tempest in a wine barrel is fermenting between France and West Germany.

The French have proposed a series of "administrative regulations" to control the quality of wines produced in the six-nation European Common Market.

West German wine makers claim it is an attempt to make all European wine brands French. They say they will fight against "a uniform for European wines."

Debt at year-end	$311,800,000,000	$317,000,000,000

BY STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called a turnabout to the long upward march of federal spending today with a cost-cutting, tax-cutting, $97.9-billion budget aimed at the nation's pockets of poverty.

Johnson sent Congress a fiscal 1965 budget message which confidently assumed the "earliest possible" tax reduction. He termed it a "giant step toward... a balanced budget in a full-employment, full-prosperity economy."

The budget would carve $1.3 billion and 2,000 civilians from the Defense Department. He proposed a $54-billion national defense effort, which includes along with actual military expenditures such costs as civil defense, stockpiling and atomic weapons procurement.

Other cuts would hit the Agriculture Department, the Post Office, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Veterans Administration.

The new fiscal blueprint also would thin slightly the over-all ranks of federal jobholders, sell off a billion-dollar batch of government assets and cut the deficit in half—from $10 billion this year to $4.9 billion in the federal year starting July 1.

Debt Increases
At year's end, June 30, 1965, the national debt will have increased from $311.8 billion to $317 billion, he estimated.

Nevertheless it is a "compassionate" budget, Johnson said, providing history's heaviest spending for "our nation's most important resource — its people."

He asked more than $1 billion for a package attack on the roots of misery.

Johnson told the legislators he was guided, in this first major economic task of his presidency, by the principle that "an austere budget need not be and should not be a standstill budget."

"When vigorous pruning of old programs and procedures releases the funds to meet new challenges and opportunities, economy becomes the companion of progress."

Peace Safeguarded
"A government that is strong, a government that is solvent, a government that is compassionate is the kind of government that endures."

He pledged that, despite military and nuclear cutbacks in spending—

"This budget safeguards the peace by providing for the further strengthening of the most formidable defense establishment the world has ever known."

Spurred by tax cuts, national output this year will soar by nearly $40 billion to a surprising record total of about $623 billion, the President predicted, generating higher revenues despite the lower tax rates.

So federal income will climb by $4.6 billion in the coming fiscal year to $93 billion, while government spending is squeezed down by $500 million to $97.9 billion for the second budget cut in nine years.

But Johnson added a warning — an implied hint of business recession and a bigger deficit if taxes are not cut — to jog the congressional champions of his.

Obstructionist Charge Denied by McCauley

MILWAUKEE (AP) — County Dist. Atty. William J. McCauley has termed "a bald face lie" statements by Assistant Atty. Gen. Le Roy M. Dalton that the Milwaukee prosecutor constantly interfered with the John Doe investigation.

Dalton, who has been directing the secret probe into possible corruption in Milwaukee County, said Monday McCauley was an "obstructionist" and claimed the district attorney had shown "extreme bad faith" in conjunction with the investigation.

Van Pelt Bars House Vote on Ice Age Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William K. Van Pelt, R-Wis., turned a cold shoulder to the proposed Ice Age National Scientific Reserve in Wisconsin and prevented passage Monday of a bill to form the project.

Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., said later in a statement, Van Pelt's "last-minute cigar-store-Indian hatcheting job is about as harmful as it could possibly be."

Reuss said he doubted there was sufficient time to get congressional action on the bill in the current session.

Stand Forces Delay
The bill was up for action on the consent calendar, and under the rules unanimous consent was required for passage.

With Van Pelt's objection, the bill goes back on the calendar and may come up again in two weeks for consideration. The bill was sponsored by Rep. Lester Johnson, D-Wis.

Van Pelt was not available for comment, but his office said he objected on grounds the proposed reserve would take valuable farm lands in Washington County off the tax rolls and would seriously affect the school tax situation.

Van Pelt reportedly stated that the Kettle Moraine State Park sections in his congressional district provide the same type of terrain that is sought in the ice age park.

Reuss said he did not know of Van Pelt's view and, if he had, steps would have been taken months ago to send the bill to the House Rules Committee so it could reach the House floor under regular procedure.

Oshkosh State Defeated by Superior, 90-75

Titans to Tangle
With First-Place
LaCrosse Tonight

SUPERIOR — Oshkosh State fell victim to a second half barrage by Superior State here Monday night and went down to a 90-75 defeat in the first game of a 2-day tour for the Titans.

The team will meet first-place LaCrosse State at LaCrosse tonight in attempt to better a Wisconsin State College Conference record that now reads 1-2. Superior is in second place with a 3-1 ledger.

The Titans led at halftime, 41-34, but suffered a 7-minute field goal drought at the start of the second half. The losers finally went into a press but Superior pulled away with the help of Mike Rookey.

Rookey scored 20 of his team's 37 points in the final 10 minutes of play. He was successful on 12 of 13 from the free throw line and finished with 28 markers.

Chuck Bernard, who has been the team's leading point-producer in conference play, hit 23 points for runnerup honors.

Jim Jaeger led Oshkosh State with 22 points with Doug Cariveau adding another 17. Superior had a 63-45 edge in rebounding and shot at a 48.2 per cent pace. Oshkosh hit 34.2 per cent of its shots from the floor.

OSHKOSH STATE 75 — Jaeger 8-6; Cariveau 8-14; Dietz 8-13; Schmidt 4-6; Dierker 0-2-0; Bourbonais 0-2-3; Race 0-0-1; Van Rossum 0-2-0; Van Orsingen 2-1-4; Nevau 1-2-5; Schneider 4-2-2 22-31.

Pistons Win First Tilt From Lakers In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One recent rumor was that the Detroit Pistons would trade Bailey Howell and Don Ohl to the San Francisco Warriors for Nate Thurmond and Gary Phillips.

Inspecting their latest performance, you get the idea that Detroit needs to unload Howell and Ohl like it needs to get rid of General Motors.

The two veterans scored 62 points between them Monday night as the Pistons won a regular season game in Los Angeles for the first time, defeating the Lakers 118-107.

It was the only game on the National Basketball Association schedule.

Directors will hold a meeting Saturday night at the Appleton Elks Club. Regulations and law changes will be discussed so proposals can be made at county conservation congress sessions.

DALLAS (AP)—Jean Bopp of Milwaukee and Bill Lillard of Dallas will pace a sharply reduced field of survivors into the final day of qualifying at the All Star Bowling Tournament today.

Mrs. Bopp, a housewife, has piled up a record 20-game total of 4195, shattering the previous mark set by Marion Ladewig last year by 10 pins. Mrs. Bopp rolled a record 760 three game series Sunday and came back Monday with four game series of 907 and 807 in the semifinals.

Bobbe North of Pomona, Calif., was in far away second place with a 4009 aggregate. The pretty red-head shot 788 and 795 four game blocks Monday.

Field Cut to 48

Mrs. Ladewig, eight time champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., was eliminated Sunday night when she failed to survive the semifinal cut which reduced the women's field from 144 to 48.

Koufax' '64 Salary May Hit $60,000

Sandy Wins Hickok Trophy
As Pro Athlete of 1963

BY JOE REICHLER

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Sandy Koufax, who won virtually every pitching honor in 1963, will shortly be getting his biggest reward of all when he signs a Los Angeles Dodger contract for an estimated $60,000.

The 28-year-old southpaw said Monday night he expected no difficulty coming to terms for 1964 when he meets with Dodger General Manager Buzz Bavasi within the next week or two.

"I have a fairly good idea as to my worth and I don't anticipate any disagreement," said Koufax, who last year was paid $35,000 for winning 25 games, 11 of them shutouts, and striking out 306 batters to top his own National League record.

The handsome, dark-haired hurler climaxed his brilliant season with two victories in the Dodgers' four-game World Series sweep over the New York Yankees, fanning a record 15 batters in the opener.

70 Per Cent Increase
A $60,000 contract would represent slightly more than a 70 per cent increase and make Koufax second highest-salaried pitcher in the major leagues.

Koufax, the National League's Most Valuable Player and The Associated Press' Male Athlete of the Year, arrived here to accept the $10,000 diamond-studded gold-buckled Hickok Trophy as the Pro Athlete of the Year.

A panel of 125 of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters gave Koufax a record 106 first place votes and 344 points. Y.A. Tittle, New York Giants' veteran quarterback, was second with nine votes and 158 points.

Butts Agrees To Libel Judgment Cut

ATLANTA (AP) — Former Georgia football Coach Wally Butts filed consent Monday in U. S. District Court to accept a $2.6 million cut in his libel judgment against the Saturday Evening Post.

In an order on Jan. 14, Federal Judge Lewis R. Morgan ruled that a new trial would be granted Curtis Publishing Co. unless Butts agreed within 20 days to take $460,000 damages instead of $3.06 million.

Morgan held that the Post libeled Butts in charging that he and Coach Paul Bryant of Alabama fixed the 1962 Georgia-Alabama football game. Alabama won 35-0.

However, Morgan, who presided at the trial, said the jury award for punitive damages was grossly excessive. The jury gave Butts $3 million punitive damages and $60,000 general damages. He had sued for $5 million in each category.

Colts to Acquire New Infielder, Says Richards

HOUSTON (AP) — General Manager Paul Richards started three of his infielders by announcing the Colts would acquire a new shortstop before the week is out.

Bob Aspromonte, Pete Runnels and Rusty Staub listened with more than casual interest as Richards spoke at a press luncheon Monday.

Richards did not say specifically that the new man would be a shortstop. But he referred to Bob Lillis, who occupied that position the last two years, as "one of the best utility men in the majors," and that was taken as a clue.

Richards indicated the player would be one of some reputation. The deal is already set, and speculation centered around Ruben Amaro of the Phils, Dick Tracewski of the Dodgers and Eddie Kasko of the Reds.

The Fox River Valley Conference spotlight has been trained on the powerful Appleton and Manitowoc High School teams for 1½ months, but ambitious Sheboygan North has quit the wings, unobtrusively, and has been edging toward center stage.

Friday night, the Golden Raiders get their big chance to become stars rather than bit players in the FRVC basketball drama.

With three straight wins, North has elbowed its way into third place, two games behind AHS and only one behind Manty. If the Raiders succeed in "upstaging" the Terrors—something that six FRVC teams have already failed to do—they'll turn the current ace into a multi-team scramble.

If the Terrors thwart North's aspirations, it will shape up as a 2-school show the rest of the way. For, at the mid-way point in the race, AHS would lead Manitowoc by only one game (providing the Ships bomb winless South) but would be at least three games up on all other teams.

Chief Topic
Meanwhile, Appleton's showdown win over Manitowoc (75-63) last Friday continues to be the FRVC's chief topic. Before the Terrors were able to "Dis-mantle Many," (as long-time fan Louis "Hap" Waltman had proclaimed in 2,100 cards he distributed), it had been an incredibly close game for three periods.

In fact, anticipation is already keen about the rematch, scheduled Feb. 21, in Manitowoc. If either team is too concerned about that big future appointment, however, it could stumble unceremoniously against such

NBC Purchases Orange Bowl Tilt TV Rights

Part of New Year's Day Tripleheader

MIAMI (AP) — The watchful eye of television has turned the Orange Bowl football classic into a night game as part of a three-sided bowl spectacular.

The change from traditional New Year's Day scheduling came Monday when the National Broadcasting Co. bought television rights to the game for the next three years. The purchase price was $225,000 per year for the game with an additional $75,000 to be paid for other Orange Bowl events.

NBC plans to air some eight hours of bowl action on New Year's Day and night, starting with the Sugar Bowl at 2 p.m. EST, and following with the Rose Bowl and finally the Orange Bowl, with the latter scheduled for an 8 p.m. EST kickoff.

Orange Bowl spokesmen said the change was designed to take their game out of competition with the Sugar and Cotton Bowls and free visitors to enjoy daytime activities in Miami.

A night game also will negate the hot weather factor. Visiting Big Eight teams, used to playing weather, are sometimes exhausted by the blazing sun.

Signs 1964 Pact With Baltimore

Billy DeMars will return as field manager of the Fox Cities Foxes in 1964, according to General Manager

Ralph Mueller. It will be DeMars' seventh season as a manager in the Baltimore organization. In addition to last year at the helm of the Foxes, DeMars managed Aberdeen, S.D. two years, Stockton, Calif. two years, and split a season at Leesburg, Fla. and Kennewick, Wash. (Tri-Cities).

The 38-year-old DeMars piloted the 1963 Foxes to a seventh place finish in the over-all Midwest League season. The team placed fifth among 10 teams in the first-half race and eighth in the second half of the campaign.

DeMars began his professional baseball career over 20 years ago at Olean, N.Y., after compiling an impressive high school record in Brooklyn, N.Y. He has three children.

He began his major league career with the Philadelphia Athletics under Connie Mack in 1948 and later played with the St. Louis Browns. DeMars returned his 1964 signed contract to the Baltimore offices last weekend from his off-season home in Rochester, N.Y. Billy is an automobile salesman during the winter months.

30 Quincy Businessmen Operate Team

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — Spokesmen for a group of 30 Quincy businessmen said Monday the group has taken over the franchise Jim Tobin formerly held for the Quincy club in the Midwest Baseball League and that the group will operate the team this year.

Tobin, former chief umpire for the Midwest League and for the last several years operator of the Quincy club, had announced earlier he had severed working connections with the New York Mets and would operate the club independently next season.

The group which took over did not report any major league club affiliation.

Memphis State Upsets Loyola '5'

Wake Forest Handed 91-82 Shocker by Underdog Maryland

BY MOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Seat belts are regarded as a safety device. So is so-called safe scheduling for college basketball teams. Sometimes, however, there are nights when nothing works.

Like Monday night. A seat belt failed to help Wake Forest and a safe schedule failed to help national champion Chicago Loyola. Each was the victim of a shocking upset.

Loyola, ranked third in the nation and winner of 11 and 12 starts, supposedly had a safe schedule in its trip to Memphis State, which had only an 8-4 record. Memphis State won 83-65.

And Wake Forest Coach Bones McKinney, known for his jumping, shouting and pacing on the sidelines, decided to strap himself to the bench with a car seat safety belt when his Deacons played Maryland at Winston-Salem, N.C. Maryland won 91-82.

Those were the only two major college games scheduled Monday. Many of the nation's basketball teams are taking a break for semester examinations.

Only two are scheduled tonight. Those include Minnesota's visit to second-ranked Michigan in a vital Big Ten game and Purdue vs. Notre Dame at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Chicago Loyola was idle last week and the inactivity dropped the Ramblers a notch in the weekly AP poll, from second to third. They figured to make up lost ground against slumped Memphis State.

But they were never in the game.

The Tennessee Tigers' George Kirk rammed through for back-to-back layups opening the game and Memphis State never trailed. The Tigers' front line of Bob Neumann, Jamie McMahon and John Hillman dominated the boards and since Loyola was well off its shooting form, the Ramblers rarely got a second chance.

UCLA Retains Cage Poll Lead

Blue Demons of DePaul Finally Crack Top 10

BY HAL BOCK

The quickest road to a berth in The Associated Press' weekly basketball poll is the one paved with victories, but DePaul was beginning to wonder.

The Blue Demons had won 11 straight games in what was to have been a rebuilding season but were unable to crack the Top Ten. Last week DePaul whipped highly regarded Dayton 89-83 and presto, the door to the Top Ten finally swung open.

A special panel of writers and broadcasters awarded the No. 9 spot to DePaul this week after Cincinnati obligingly had dropped a pair of games and qualified for dismissal. The Bearcats, beaten by Bradley and Drake, replaced DePaul among the also-rans this week.

Wins 15 Straight

UCLA continues to lead the poll but there was plenty of shuffling in the spots behind the undefeated Bruins, who've won 15 straight. The Uclans collected 38 first-place votes on the 43 ballots and accumulated 423 points.

Michigan jumped a notch to second place with 350 points. Loyola of Chicago, idle last week, slipped to third with 294. Points were awarded on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc.

Undefeated Davidson moved up to fourth place ahead of Kentucky while Vanderbilt maintained its No. 6 spot. Villanova and Duke each jumped two slots—the Wildcats to No. 7 and the Blue Devils to No. 8. Oregon State, No. 7 a week ago, slipped to 10th place, sharing it with a returnee, Wichita.

Hit 29 Per Cent

Chicago hit only 29 per cent from the floor, and had only six field goals in the first half as Memphis State charged out to a 37-20 lead at intermission.

The margin went as high as 27 points in the second half as Chicago was unable to dent the Tigers' tough zone defense. Usual leading scorer Ron Miller was limited to four points. John Egan's 19 points topped the harassed losers.

For Memphis State, Neumann had 30, Hillman 18, Kirk 15 and Jim Morgan 12.

In Winston-Salem, McKinney, as a gag, belted himself to the bench with a seat belt. He stayed put as Wake built a 12-point lead in the first eight minutes.

But when the sophomore-studied Terrapins hustled back to a 31-30 advantage, off came the seat belt and up came McKinney. He shouted and pleaded and stamped and stomped. Nothing worked.

Wake Forest came back a couple of times and McKinney was in danger of popping the stitches in his lip, the result of a minor operation. The Deacons even led 69-62, fell behind at 70-69, tied it again, then dropped behind to stay when Neil Brayton's jump shot gave Maryland a 72-70 margin.

Sam McWilliams had 25 points and led the winners while Butch Hassell had 23 for the losers.

1964 AL Slate Announced by Joe Cronin

Vows the Athletics Will Not be Uprooted From Kansas City

BY BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP)—Vowing the Athletics will not be uprooted from Kansas City this year, President Joe Cronin announced the 1964 American League baseball schedule today.

It lists the Presidential opener in Washington April 13, includes a record 443 night games and presents trade-shuffled line-ups.

The Athletics' Charles O. Finley was voted down 9-1 by fellow club owners on his request to move the team from Kansas City to Louisville, where he already has signed a conditional lease.

Finley said he would take the matter to court.

"We are not even considering being forced into a change by any court action," Cronin said.

"We sent out copies of the schedule to all the clubs for approval before it is released. We have such approval from Kansas City, signed by General Manager Pal Friday, to play its schedule in Municipal Stadium."

First Pitch

President Johnson is expected to handle the traditional first pitch when Los Angeles meets Washington in an opener five days later than last year. As vice president Mr. Johnson attended all openers with his predecessor, the late John F. Kennedy.

The regular schedule does not finish until Sunday, Oct. 4.

On Tuesday, April 14, the New York Yankees open their bid for a fifth straight pennant and 14th in 16 years at home against Boston. The same afternoon Baltimore is at Chicago, Kansas City at Detroit and Minnesota at Cleveland.

The 443 night games are 15 more than the previous all-time high of last year and 65 more than in 1961 when the American League first expanded from eight to 10 clubs.

Los Angeles is the most ardent team with 66 night games. Baltimore lists 61 and Kansas City 53.

Black Hawks' Fleming Released From Hospital

CHICAGO (AP) — Reggie Fleming of the Chicago Black Hawks was released from Henrotin Hospital Monday after suffering cuts which needed 21 stitches in Sunday's 2-0 National Hockey League loss to Toronto.

Fleming was hit, presumably by Eddie Shack of Toronto, during the game. Fleming fell to the ice and then left the rink. He was taken to Henrotin Hospital and kept there overnight.

Amherst Star Honored

Tom Metcalf Predicts Berra Will be Stengel-Type Pilot

AMHERST — A capacity crowd turned out Thursday to honor a local boy who made good, Tom Metcalf, a relief specialist for the New York Yankees.

Metcalf, 22, is the son of Rounds Metcalf, Wisconsin Rapids and the grandson of Dr. Frank Metcalf, Amherst.

Metcalf posted a 1-0 record with the Yankees, with a 2.77 ERA in nine appearances. He made the jump from Class D ball to the big show in just three years. He played with St. Petersburg, Augusta and Richmond, before joining New York last July. His best pitch is a fast ball.

Metcalf was presented with a gold watch chain by the Amherst Lions club, who sponsored the occasion. Walter Bohman, principal of the high school, presented him with a hand tool belt inscribed "TOM METCALF — NEW YORK YANKEES".

Manager Yogi Berra sent a letter to be read. "We look for big things from Tom, and he is one of the reasons the Yankees are optimistic about the future. This is the first of many thrills he will enjoy in 1964."

In a telegram, General Manager Ralph Houk said. "We of the New York Yankees are proud he is with our organization. It is ball players of his high standards of living and ability that make the Yankees the successful team they are."

When asked how he thought Berra would do as the new manager of the Yankees, Metcalf replied, "He has great knowledge of the game and a great organization back of him. People will look on him as a Casey Stengel type manager. I don't think he'll have any trouble. He showed that he wants to do the best for the Yankees by refusing a long term contract."

Metcalf said the past year gave him confidence for the future. Instead of wondering where he will be or whether he'll ever make the majors, he can plan ahead.

The Yankees was the first team he had been with that had a winning season. He had a 34-19 minor league record, most of the decisions coming in relief roles.

Tom was born in Amherst and attended grade school here until moving to Wisconsin Rapids.

dangerous foes as North, Oshkosh and Green Bay East.

Manitowoc fans figure their team's chances will be better next month when Bill Buerstatte will be in the lineup and Bob Sullivan should be at peak strength. Buerstatte missed his second straight game last Friday because of illness, but came back Saturday night to score 10 points in an overtime win over Oshkosh.

Buerstatte, however, may have a hard time topping Friday's performance of reserve Bill Schwartz. Schwartz not only led the Ships with 20 points but was the only member of his team able to break away for close-in baskets against the Terrors. The other Ships were forced to shot from well out on the court by the AHS zone. Sullivan reportedly was weakened by the flu, yet played all the way against the Terrors. He was limited to 13 points by AHS' tight defense, which shaved 24 points off the Ships' 87-point average.

The Terrors, too, were deprived of some of their strength by circumstances. Tom Callaway, erstwhile forecourt regular, missed his third straight game because of a leg fracture (he cheered his teammates on from a wheelchair). Backcourt regular Gary Hietpas sat out more than half the game with foul trouble.

But, AHS' bench strength again asserted itself. Junior reserve Bruce Miller, who played all but about four minutes of the game, "arrived" as a varsity stalwart. He answered Coach Dick Emanuel's need for a scoring forward with 19 points and looms as the heir-apparent to Callaway's berth.

Paul Schumaker once again lived up to his label as the team's top fireman when he played top-drawer ball in relief of Hietpas.

Mike Ludes Powers 265 In Kimberly

Mike Ludes powered a 265 singleton and a 623 series to pace the Kimberly-Clark Mill League at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly.

The Office (6-3) holds a 1-game lead.

Wayne Kilsdonk slammed a 249 game and finished with a 585 set to top the KRA Couples Bird League at Jerry's.

Other honor scores were hit by Clarence Kilsdonk, 571, and Tom Reider, 556.

Ken DeBruin cracked a 570 series and Arlin Burt rolled 558 to lead the Businessmen's Bowling League at Little Chute Recreation.

Tellock Bowls 551

GREENVILLE—Arlo Tellock topped a 551 series to lead the Greenville Men's Bowling League at Hortonville lanes.

Stitch's Widow Shot to Death

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The widow of boxer Rudell Stitch was shot to death Monday at her home while her six children slept in adjoining rooms.

The body of Mrs. Rosa Mae Stitch, a bullet wound in the upper chest, was found lying against a bathroom door.

Also wounded critically in the head was Philander Bryant, who police said had dated Mrs. Stitch. He was shot above the right ear and was just a few feet away.

Stitch, a third-ranked welterweight, died heroically in June, 1960, while trying to save a drowning man in the Ohio River.

Rick Martinek tallied 15 points. Dick Popp added 12, and Mike Brauligan 11, to pace St. Joseph. Jim Lintzmeyer tallied 17 points to lead the St. Bernardette attack.

Russell Plays With Arthritis In Both Knees

BOSTON (AP)—Bill Russell, the National Basketball Association's reigning Most Valuable Player, plays with arthritis in both knees. The Boston Traveler reported Monday.

Russell has been taking diathermy and whirlpool treatments—and playing the full 48 minutes of games more often than not for the champion Boston Celtics.

The story quoted Russell as admitting he has arthritis in both knees, though it is currently more severe in the left knee. "Nobody's ever written about it because they don't know I have it," the story quoted Russell as saying. "I don't talk about it usually."

"Although it's painful at times, I don't think it'll shorten my career. So I'm concerned about it, but not worried."

"It's hard to describe the pain. Like a toothache in the knee, I suppose. I guess I've had it since I was in college."

Trainer Dave Erb said Monday that barring a miracle, Hurry To Market may be away for at least six months.

Russia Favored In Olympic Hockey Play

Soviet Squad Highly Successful in Tour of U. S., Canada

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—With eight days to go before the Jan. 29 opening of the Winter Olympics one thing seems certain—Russia should have no trouble collecting the gold medal in hockey.

The names of Czechoslovakia, Sweden, the United States and Canada are being banded around by local hockey experts but all agree Russia is the team to beat.

The USSR squad is the reigning Olympic and world champions. This winter the Russians completed a highly successful tour of the U.S. and Canada, and swept all before them in Europe.

The top hockey teams have yet to arrive in Innsbruck but the Olympic Village is rapidly filling with other competitors.

Bobsled Squads

All the bobsled squads have arrived and today will have their second training runs on the Olympic course at Igls. Monday's two-man times were fast and only the United States had a mishap.

John Handley, 40, an ex-Marine from Malene, N.Y., fell from a sled piloted by Charles McDonald, 31, also from Malene. He was not hurt and will take part in the four-man run today.

At Seefeld the Nordic cross country and ski jump teams from Switzerland, West Germany and Russia are expected to have their first test of the course. East Germany, Finland and some of the Russian women already have tried out the course.

Last to arrive will be the skiers who have decided to stay with the snow in Italy and other European ski resorts, rather than risk restricted training in Innsbruck.

Average Slips, But Wilt Holds NBA Scoring Lead
NEW YORK (AP)—Deduct 11 points from the average of most basketball players and they'd be in trouble. Not so with Wilt Chamberlain, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer.

The San Francisco Warrior star was leading the league's point-makers with a 46.2 average a year ago. His production has slipped to 35.3 this season—a drop of nearly 11 points. So where does that leave him in the scoring parade?

Still on top, that's where. Wilt, whose 522 field goal percentage is tops in that department, too, holds better than a five point lead on Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson who has a 29.9 average. Robertson leads the league in assists with 10.4 per game.

Internal Injuries Caused Weatherly's Death, Says Coroner
RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A coroner's report discounts speculation that a heart attack may have led to Joe Weatherly's fatal accident in Sunday's 500-mile stock car race at Riverside.

The report, released Monday, says multiple internal injuries were the cause of death. Chief Deputy Coroner William Dykes said an autopsy showed the 41-year-old NASCAR champion was in good health prior to the accident.

Bowling Tips

BY DON CARTER AND MARION LADEWIG

Strike! But Why?
What causes a strike? Occasionally, of course, you can knock all of the pins down with any kind of hit. Usually, though, you must hit the pocket (the Nos. 1-3 pins) with a ball that is rolling, rather than skidding. To cause your ball to roll, see that your thumb is pointing a little to the left at release (toward 10 or 11 o'clock, perhaps, on an imaginary clock) and let the ball go with a relaxed, lifting motion.

In a scoring slump? The advice offered in Marion Ladewig's pocket-sized pamphlet, "Control Tips For Beginners," can help you out of that slump and make your scores soar. Send 10 cents and a stamped, return envelope to Marion Ladewig, care of this newspaper.

Geoffrion Sidelined Indefinitely by Injury
MONTREAL (AP)—A spokesman for the Montreal Canadiens said Monday Bernie Geoffrion will be out of the team's line-up indefinitely as a result of an injury in Boston Sunday night.

Geoffrion complained he was hit in the throat by a stick during the National Hockey League 1-1 tie and was taken to hospital for observation.

Wife of Perranoski Drops Divorce Suit

An attorney for Sue Ellen Perranoski announced Monday that the couple has reconciled and the case has been taken off calendar in Superior Court.

Oklahoma City Cager Stays in Lineup Despite Broken Ankle

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Bud Koper, Oklahoma City University's scoring ace, is staying in the basketball team's line-up despite a broken ankle.

Koper learned Monday he has played his last five games on a broken right ankle. He has averaged 22 points a game since suffering the injury and has an average of 27.4 for all games.

It was another injury which finally led to the discovery of the broken bone. Koper suffered a cut over his eye in a game last week. He lost a considerable amount of blood at the time and it was decided Monday to have his blood count checked.

Complete Physical
Doctors decided to give Koper a complete physical examination. Sports publicist Ed Nall said when Koper returned from the examination he was asked about his blood count.

"It was down," Koper replied. "But guess what? My leg's broken."

The doctors said the ankle is mending properly and Koper can stay in the line-up. The only game the 6-foot-6 senior has missed in his collegiate career was last Saturday's Nebraska contest when he did not make the trip because of the eye injury.

Stan Mikita, of Chicago, Leads Scoring in NHL
MONTREAL (AP)—The 11-goal barrage the Boston Bruins unloaded on Toronto goalie Don Simmons Saturday left the Leafs' Johnny Bower in a state of shock and Chicago's Glenn Hall in control of the Vezina Trophy race.

National Hockey League statistics released today show Hall with a seven-goal margin in the race for the Vezina Trophy over Bower and Montreal's Charley Hodge. The Chicago goalie can thank the Bruins for his wide margin even though the outburst came against Simmons.

Under NHL regulations, the Vezina Trophy is a team award going to the regular goalie of the club allowing the fewest goals. Thus Bower, although watching from the sidelines, must bear the burden for the 11 goals.

Meanwhile two of Hall's Black Hawk teammates, Stan Mikita and Bobby Hull, pace the league's scorers. Mikita maintained his scoring lead and holds a four-point margin over Hull who took over the runner-up spot from Montreal's Jean Beliveau.

AFL Adopts Pension Plan

League Also Votes to Increase Player Limit To 34 Next Season

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The American Football League unanimously approved a player pension plan Sunday as its annual meeting came to an end.

Commissioner Joe Foss said that he and Ralph Wilson, president of the Buffalo Bills, formed a committee which will work out all details for presentation at the league's meeting in June.

The plan will be retroactive for the players who have been in the league since it began in 1960. Players with five years' experience in the AFL will be eligible.

Funds From Games
Funds will derive from the championship and All-Star games, endorsements and similar avenues of revenue, Foss said.

The league bosses formally voted to increase team rosters from 33 to 34.

The league also voted to retain its security policies, leaving each club to handle supervision of activities, on and off the field, of every one connected with the league.

Foss expressed optimism over the league's future and noted that for the first time since it was formed, there is no concern about the stability of any of the eight franchises.

Boxer, 17, Dies 3 Days After Michigan Bout
FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Golden Gloves boxer Forest Wright, 17, injured in a Friday night bout, died Monday at a Flint hospital without regaining consciousness.

Doctors said the former high school star athlete apparently died of a massive brain hemorrhage suffered when he was knocked unconscious in a Novice lightweight bout with Louis Pulliam of Grand Blanc, Mich.

The injury may have been suffered when Wright's head hit heavily on the canvas, doctors said.

Every Family Should Have Regular Doctor

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Your article on hypertension, or high blood pressure, fits my husband exactly. What kind of a doctor should he consult?—Mrs. R. S. M.

Why not to his regular doctor? I assume he has one. The general practitioner remains the first line of medical defense. Even though the number of specialists has multiplied vastly, it's the man in general practice who knows when you need a specialist. It is often more important, in the various ills that we all must contend with, to have a doctor someone who is thoroughly familiar with YOU, and with your physical peculiarities, than to have a specialist who knows his subject intimately but does not know YOU.

Have you ever stopped to think that the Presidents of the United States rather invariably have an attending physician, or "presidential doctor." When or if some ailment becomes aggravated, or is such that specialized knowledge is required, that's when a specialist is called in.

This is a rather simple, obvious fact that has been rather lost in the shuffle—especially because a certain few people make a confusing lot of braggy noises about going to specialists for everything that ails them. This dividing line between general care and care by specialists isn't a rigid one. In the cities, there is a swifter calling of specialists, because they are more readily available. In the smaller towns and the country, of necessity the "family doctor" handles a wider variety of problems himself—like delivering babies and performing minor surgery.

The small-town doctor, quite sensibly, will use the better known remedies if, for example, you have an annoying skin condition, whereas in a big city you may very well go to a dermatologist.

But whether in city or country, have a regular physician and depend on him to tell you when you need a specialist.

It's only the physician who has known you over a period of years who can readily distinguish between a case of nerves and some truly organic disturbance. Sure, a specialist can find out, but it will take him some time and some tests.

Your own doctor can save you time, money and worry—and choose the best available specialist if, as must happen to some of us, the really hard problem comes along.

Don't think the general physician has "gone out of style." The biggest medical organization in the United States is the American Medical Association—which includes ALL types of doctors.

What's the second largest? Why, it's the American Academy of General Practice! The general physicians.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son had rheumatic fever when he was nine years old. He is now 45, works very hard, 12 or 14 hours a day, six days a week. Apparently there has been no reaction from the rheumatic fever on his heart. Is there a probability of this happening later, say in the next 20 years?—B. G.

Not all attacks of rheumatic fever damage the heart, although many do. Your son's condition indicates that his heart was and probably still is healthy. There is no reason to fear that he will suffer any harm now from an illness more than 30 years ago.

NOTE TO MRS. L.C.W.: No, ulcerative colitis is not "always cancerous" in either a child or adult. But colitis is annoying and sometimes serious; it deserves careful attention.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of the leaflet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Teacher From China to be at Kaukauna High

KAUKAUNA—Mrs. Harriet Lin Lee, teacher in Taipei, China, is scheduled to arrive in Kaukauna Friday for a 3-week stay at Kaukauna High School under the auspices of the International Teacher Development Program.

The board of education late last year approved the proposal to have a foreign teacher study American teaching methods in the Kaukauna school system. Purpose of the visit is to enable Mrs. Lee to see a representative part of American life and education and at the same time make China and the Chinese way of life better known to area residents.

Mrs. Lee will be staying at the home of Miss Joyce Kapingsting, Kaukauna High School librarian, and her roommates, Miss Judith Herrle and Miss Frances Church, also teachers in the system. While the visitor is interested in the entire educational system of Kaukauna, she will observe primarily the teaching of English, according to Walter Schmidt, principal.

She teaches English 18 hours weekly to 58 girls in China. After her stay in this country she will return to her teaching duties in China.

NLRB Backs UAW Local In Fining 4

No Law Broken in Case Involving Extra Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board said today that a United Automobile Workers local in Wisconsin did not violate any law when it fined members for consistently making extra money for extra production.

In a 4-1 ruling the NLRB said the fines levied by UAW Local 283 at West Allis, Wis., against four of its members were an internal union matter.

In a dissent, board member Boyd Leedom said the fines were a form of restraint and coercion in violation of the National Labor Relations Act.

The charges were brought by the four fined union members at the Wisconsin Motor Corp. in West Allis. The employer was not involved.

The dispute centered around a union policy allowing union members to take advantage of extra pay offered by the firm for doing extra piece work, but not to exceed consistently ceilings set by the union.

The fines involved were two $100 assessments, one for $75 and one for $50.

KHS Forensic Coaches Named

KAUKAUNA—Teachers have been assigned coaching duties for the coming forensic season with students registering to participate in a local elimination contest early in March.

Students rating high in local action gain the right to participate in either conference or league action. In charge of public address will be Paul Kulas and Miss Frances Church will coach extemporaneous speaking.

Mrs. R. J. Deloria, Mrs. Patrick Netzel and Jerome Kroil will be coaches for memorized declamation. Original oratory will be handled by Francis DeBruin, interpretive reading of prose by Miss Loraine Dudley and Mrs. John Van De Loo and interpretive reading of poetry by Miss Mary Finn and Jack Peterson.

Coaching non-original oratory will be Dennis Kral, play reading will be Mrs. Kenneth Roloff, and 4-minute speaking will be handled by Joseph Vander Zanden. A "K" pin will be awarded students receiving an A rating on the local level.

Engineered better...backed better than any car in its class.

A 1964 Chrysler is engineered better...backed better than any car in its class. This is fact. Provable. Demonstrable. For example:

Chrysler is the only car in its class with a one-piece all-welded body. Stronger. Tighter. Stays quieter years longer. It's also the only body that's rust-proofed in seven dips plus six sprays. Then topped off with brighter, harder acrylic enamels. Then floated on a torsion-bar suspension. Which makes it ride smoother and corner steadier.

Those are solid facts about just one Chrysler feature. An even better one is the engine and drivetrain warranty.* It's the only one in its price class that lasts for 5 years or 50,000 miles. That's how confident we feel about the engineering that goes into every Chrysler.

There's no doubt about it. If you want more solid satisfaction when you move into a medium-priced car, Chrysler is the buy. Try it. MOVE UP TO CHRYSLER

*Engineered better...backed better than any car in its class—5-year/50,000-mile warranty with this coverage: Chrysler Corporation warrants, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business, the engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings of its 1964 automobiles. Provided the owner has the engine oil changed every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, the oil filter replaced every second oil change and the carburetor air filter cleaned every 6 months and replaced every 2 years, and every 6 months furnishes to such a dealer evidence of performance of the required service, and requests the dealer to certify (1) receipt of such evidence and (2) the car's then current mileage.

British Speed Troops, Carrier To Tanganyika

African Country
Calms Down After
Military Mutiny

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE
LONDON (AP) — Britain rushed nearly 2,000 troops and an aircraft carrier to Tanganyika's borders today but the situation in the new African nation appeared to be calming following an army mutiny.

A brief Associated Press dispatch from Dar es Salaam, the Tanganyikan capital, said a government information officer had announced that President Julius Nyerere was safe and would broadcast to the nation today.

Nyerere was reported at his official residence in Dar es Salaam.

Curfew in Effect
Diplomatic reports trickling into London said the Tanganyikan capital was calm but under military curfew and the rebellious 1st Battalion of the Tanganyika Rifles, the country's army, apparently had taken over from the police.

The reports said at least 14 persons were killed and 120 injured in Monday's mutiny, triggered by resentment over low pay and delay in replacing British officers commanding military forces of the two-year-old commonwealth nation.

No white casualties were mentioned, and the victims were all believed to be African or Asian. Many were believed to be Indian owners of shops and bazaars that were looted during the disorders.

Americans Safe
The British Broadcasting Corporation said in its 7 a.m. broadcast that all was reported quiet during the night in Dar es Salaam.

The U.S. State Department said all Americans in Tanganyika—estimated at about 1,300—were reported safe. They include 165 U.S. government employees working in the embassy, the U.S. Information Service and the Peace Corps.

The mutiny, coming only a week after the leftist coup on the nearby island of Zanzibar, brought quick British action to protect the 5,000 British citizens in Tanganyika.

Dar es Salaam Radio said Lt. Elisha Kavama took command, presumably replacing Brig. Patrick Scholte-Douglas, senior British officer of the contingent which has been training and commanding the native force.

Judge Refuses to Rescind Order for Whipping Defendant

WILMINGTON Del. (AP) — A Delaware judge has refused to set aside the whipping he ordered for Talmadge R. Balser, 41, and said he has been criticized for reducing the number of lashes.

Balser was sentenced to 25 years and 20 lashes, but Superior Judge Stewart R. Lynch reduced the penalty two weeks ago to 15 years and 10 lashes.

Judge Lynch denied defense attorney Edward W. Schall's motion to set aside or reduce the sentence Monday.

Balser was convicted of robbery charges.

Schall said he would appeal and ask a stay of the lashing, scheduled for Jan. 28.

Johnson Proposes To Halt Output of Nuclear Vehicles

Sends Special Message to Arms Conference at Geneva

BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
GENEVA (AP) — President Johnson proposed to the Soviet Union today a program freezing the production of nuclear delivery vehicles.

Presenting his proposal in a special message sent to the summit of the 17-nation disarmament conference here, Johnson asked the Russians to join in a new program to halt the nuclear arms race and to prevent a new world war.

The President's program, including a world treaty to outlaw the use or threat of force in international disputes, was read by U.S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster.

Besides the freeze on the production of nuclear delivery vehicles, Johnson proposed the shutdown of all reactors producing nuclear materials for weapons, and a system of observation posts to prevent surprise attack or accidental war.

Johnson also urged a special agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to additional countries and to ban the underground nuclear tests unaffected by Moscow test ban treaty.

The conference resumed after a five-month recess.

Other points in Johnson program:

1. A discussion of the "means of prohibiting the threat or use of force, directly or indirectly—whether by aggression, subversion, or the clandestine supply of arms—to change boundaries or demarcation lines."

The prohibition also could apply to any interference with access to any territory or to any effort to extend control over territory "by displacing established authorities."

2. The powers should attempt to develop "a verified agreement."

Murrow Resigns;
Rowan Named
USIA Director

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edward R. Murrow resigned today as director of the U.S. Information Agency and is being replaced by Carl Rowan, who will become the highest-ranking Negro in government.

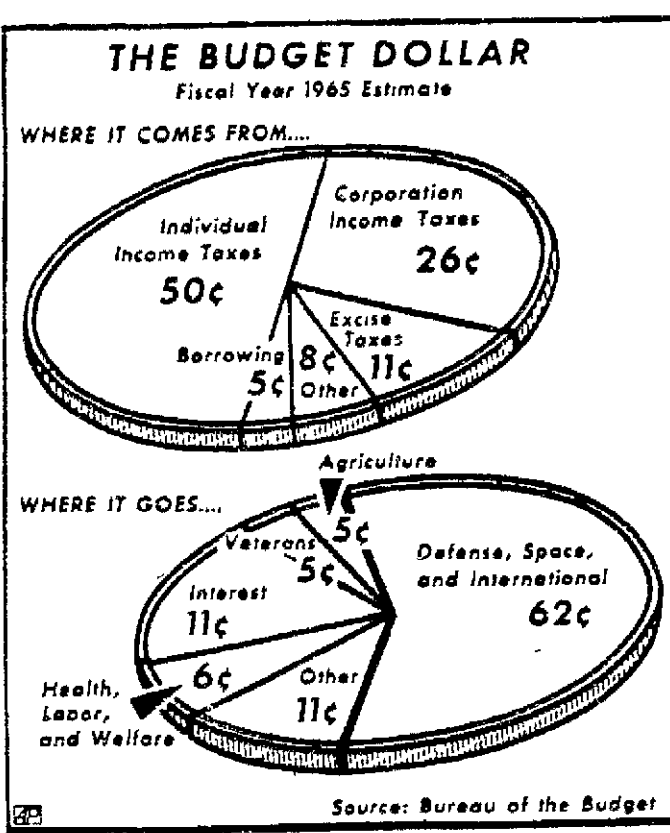

President Johnson announced Murrow's resignation, which was tendered because of the need for a long convalescence from lung cancer surgery. Johnson said he accepted the resignation "with the greatest reluctance."

Rowan, now ambassador to Finland, is a former newspaperman who was deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs before going to Finland.

As USIA director, Rowan will become the first Negro ever to sit in on meetings of the National Security Council.

U. S., Russia to Use Echo 2 in Joint Test

Via Satellite, if Orbit

BY RALPH DIGHTON

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The world's largest man-made moonlet is scheduled for launching Thursday, and if orbited it could open a new era of scientific cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

U.S. space agency officials say this country and Russia have agreed to use the 135-foot diameter balloon, to be called Echo 2, for their first joint experiments in talking via satellite.

Agree on Experiment
The United States and Russia agreed last August to use Echo 2 as an experiment in communications via satellite, bouncing radio signals off its reflective surface and picking them up at ground stations. A spokesman said this would be the first time for the two powers to talk via satellite. No date for the transmissions has been set.

The signals, on a frequency of 162 megacycles, may carry voices, audible tones, telegraphic code or facsimile pictures.

The Russians are not participating in the launching of the satellite, but they may attempt to track it by military radar.

During the course of its expected lifetime, Echo 2 will be seen from all parts of Russia, a space agency spokesman said. The near-polar orbit is the same as that used by Samos photographic reconnaissance satellites, which keeps every square mile of Russian territory under surveillance.

The shiny plastic-and-aluminum-foil sphere, the spokesman said, "is expected to be seen by more persons than any other man-made object in the history of the world."

Previous largest satellite was the 100-foot-diameter Echo 1, launched in 1960 and still in orbit.

Pinpoint of Light
Echo 2 is expected to be visible in this country for the first time late Thursday, when it crosses the Eastern states on its sixth trip around the globe about 10 hours after launch.

If the skies are clear, it will be seen as a pinpoint of light moving from south to north. The satellite has no internal illumination but can be seen when struck by rays from the sun below the horizon.

Western states should be able to see the moonlet about 12 hours after launch on its seventh pass around the earth.

Launching is scheduled between 5:11 a.m. and 6:14 a.m. (8:11 a.m. and 9:14 a.m. Eastern Standard Time).

GOP Critical But Democrats Praise Budget

Dirksen Skeptical,
Mansfield Lauds
'Tight' Figures

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats generally applauded President Johnson's $97.9 billion budget today, calling it tight and realistic.

Republicans appeared to view it with the skepticism of an audience at a magic show.

"I'm intrigued by how so much more can be undertaken by the federal government in so many quarters with so much less money," said Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

He suggested that Johnson may have to employ "some legerdemain" to finance the programs he proposed and still hold spending below this year's $100 billion.

Dirksen said Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon had testified in October that the New Year's deficit would be likely to run $9 billion.

Praise From Mansfield
"But by some automation, computers and calculators we are now told the administration will do more with less and come up with a deficit half of that amount," he said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said, however, that the President's estimates represent a "tight" budget with

Canadian Leader Tries to Patch U. S., Paris Rift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson is expected to talk with President Johnson during a visit beginning today about the possibility of finding ways to improve relations between Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The outlook for closer ties between Paris and Washington, as U.S. officials see the situation, is dark at the moment especially because of the recent decision by De Gaulle to recognize Communist China.

France, Germany in Winebarrel Tempest

MAINZ, Germany (AP) — A sort of tempest in a wine barrel is fermenting between France and West Germany.

The French have proposed a series of "administrative regulations" to control the quality of wines produced in the six-nation European Common Market.

West German wine makers claim it is an attempt to make all European wine brands French. They say they will fight against "a uniform for European wines."

Debt at year-end	$311,800,000,000	$317,000,000,000

BY STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called a turnaround to the long upward march of federal spending today with a cost-cutting, tax-cutting, $97.9-billion budget aimed at the nation's pockets of poverty.

Johnson sent Congress a fiscal 1965 budget message which confidently assumed the "earliest possible" tax reduction. He termed it a "giant step toward... a balanced budget in a full-employment, full-prosperity economy."

The budget would carve $1.3 billion and 2,000 civilians from the Defense Department. He proposed a $54-billion national defense effort, which includes along with actual military expenditures such costs as civil defense, stockpiling and atomic weapons procurement.

Other cuts would hit the Agriculture Department, the Post Office, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Veterans Administration.

The new fiscal blueprint also would trim slightly the over-all ranks of federal jobholders, sell off a billion-dollar batch of government assets and cut the deficit in half—from $10 billion this year to $4.9 billion in the federal year starting July 1.

Debt Increases

At year's end, June 30, 1965, the national debt will have increased from $311.8 billion to $317 billion, he estimated.

Nevertheless it is a "compassionate" budget, Johnson said, providing history's heaviest spending for "our nation's most important resource — its people."

He asked more than $1 billion for a package attack on the ills of misery.

Johnson told the legislators he was guided, in this first major economic task of his presidency, by the principle that "an austere budget need not be and should not be a standstill budget."

"When vigorous pruning of old programs and procedures releases the funds to meet new challenges and opportunities, economy becomes the companion of progress."

Peace Safeguarded

"A government that is strong, a government that is solvent, a government that is compassionate is the kind of government that endures."

He pledged that, despite military and nuclear cutbacks in spending—

"This budget safeguards the peace by providing for the further strengthening of the most formidable defense establishment the world has ever known."

Spurred by tax cuts, national output this year will soar by nearly $40 billion to a surprising record total of about $623 billion, the President predicted, generating higher revenues despite the lower tax rates.

So federal income will climb by $4.6 billion in the coming fiscal year to $93 billion, while government spending is squeezed down by $500 million to $97.9 billion for the second budget cut in nine years.

But Johnson added a warning — an implied hint of business recession and a bigger deficit if taxes are not cut — to jog the congressional champions of fiscal restraint.

Kaukauna Man Remains a Captive in Laos

No Progress Made, Senator Nelson Tells DeBruins

KAUKAUNA — Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) Saturday told Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. DeBruin, route 3, the State Department still has made no progress in obtaining the release of their son, Eugene, 30, shot down over Laos Sept. 5 by pro-Communist Viet Cong Pathet Lao forces.

Sen. Nelson said the State Department had asked the Pathet Lao to allow the International Red Cross to interview DeBruin and report on his health, but the request was denied.

The British ambassador to Laos was to have met Saturday with Pathet Lao officials concerning DeBruin's release, Sen. Nelson said. Mrs. DeBruin said today she and her husband have received no word on the meeting's outcome.

Nelson also said the State Department's Laotian desk officer has been forwarding the DeBruins' mail to their son. He told the DeBruins to keep sending mail to their son, because "it must mean a great deal to him under the circumstances." Mrs. DeBruin said no replies have been received from Eugene. She said they started writing to him in October.

DeBruin, along with a crew of two other Americans and four Asians, was on a supply-dropping mission to refugees when the plane was shot down. The Pathet Lao listed him as the only survivor.

The plane had been chartered by the Vietnamese government. The crew was working for Air America, a privately-owned air freight line.

Bear Creek Couple Declared Neglectful Of Their 9 Children

A Bear Creek couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jepson, Prospect Street, parents of nine children whose ages range from 3 months to 17 years, were declared neglectful of their children after a hearing Monday before Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr.

Jepson, an unemployed cabbage picker, and his wife, Sylvia, an employee of a Clintonville glove manufacturing firm, were ordered to turn custody of their children over to the county welfare department for one year. The children will remain with the Jepsons during the custody period.

Welfare authorities and the county's juvenile officer, Lt. Joseph Vandenoever, inspected the Jepson house Jan. 9 after a search warrant had been issued.

List Guidelines for Use by Agencies in Setting Fees

United Community Services Study On Costs Presented at Forum

Guidelines for health, welfare and leisure time agencies to use in determining a charge for their services were suggested in a report presented to the United Community Services (UCS) Monday.

The report was made by a fee study committee of the UCS research and planning department. It was completed last July, but the first public presentation was today.

The report concludes fees should be charged to those able to pay, and services must be available to those unable to pay, without any stigma attached, so that those most in need of the services are not automatically the ones who do not receive them. The service must be readily available and of the same quality for everyone, regardless of their financial or social status, it said.

Budget Concern — The study was made because of concern by the UCS budget committee and general interest on the part of the agencies on what they should do, according to Rowland Todd, UCS executive director.

On the fee study committee were Mrs. Joseph Foley, chairman; Jerome Hiler, Jerome Capitaine, Roland Choudoir and Don Herrling.

As a result of the study, the Appleton Apostolate started charging an adoption fee Aug. 15. Decisions on other changes will be made by individual agencies.

The guidelines on fees will be of use to the UCS budget committee in reviewing proposed budgets of Red Feather agencies, and determining the portion of budgets which should be received by the community support through the Red Feather campaign, the committee said.

Gathered Data — The committee collected information from the various health, welfare and leisure time agencies on their fee charging practices, and from various communities and national agencies.

on their policies and recommendations on fees.

The report concluded, "As it is the responsibility of the community to provide health, welfare and leisure time agencies, there must be some guide as to how far that responsibility extends financially. Community support of agencies is needed to pay the difference between what the services cost and what can realistically be received from fees."

Fees must be based on the cost of the service, the report said. It listed five problems in determining the amount of each fee:

1. Will the administrative procedure necessary to assess ability to pay and to collect the fees be too costly?
2. How can fees be handled for agencies whose policies are set nationally?
3. What expenses should be included in determining the service cost?
4. Can a fee be charged someone who is using the service only because of pressure to do so?
5. If those able to pay the full cost will not do so, is the service worth the fee?

Specific Agencies — On the basis of its study, the committee reached conclusions on specific agencies. It concluded that the Apostolate could charge fees for adoptions, as other child welfare agencies do, but that no fee could be charged for most of the other services since they are received by those unable to pay. If the family counseling program is improved, fees might appropriately be charged for this service, the committee said.

The YMCA and the Catholic Activities Council do not meet suggested conditions because the full fee does not cover the full cost of the services, the report said. There was some question about the responsibility of children and teen-agers to pay the full cost of the services they receive. The committee recognized the problems of determining the ability to pay for those unable to pay full cost, but said this could be worked out since these agencies deal with a specific membership.

The committee questioned whether Visiting Nurse Association fees met the suggested conditions, since the full fee represents about half the cost of the service.

Difficult Time — Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts would have a difficult time developing a reasonable procedure for determining the ability of boys and girls to pay for the service, if the full cost were charged, the report said.

Outagamie County Community Guidance Center's fee system meets suggested conditions, the report said. The center's fee is based on 1 per cent of the previous year's federal income tax. Adoption fees of Lutheran Welfare Services and the Children's Service Society meet suggested conditions, and most other services provided by these agencies are to those unable to pay, the report said.

Hospitals pay for the blood they use from the Community Blood Center; so fees are indirectly charged for its service, the report said. The nature of the major research and education programs of the Wisconsin Heart Association benefits everyone, so a fee meeting the conditions could not be established, the report said.

Golden Age — The Golden Age Club meets the suggested conditions through membership and activity fees, the committee concluded. Since the Appleton Recreation Department program is tax supported, the committee felt many of those served by it were not responsible for paying the full cost. Fees are charged depending upon the activity.

The report also includes a summary of the fee systems of the 13 agencies which charge fees for service, and a listing of 12 other public and private agencies which do not charge fees and are supported by government or donations.

Slate Referendum on Two New London School Plans

Balloting Set for Feb. 27 on $1.4 Million Secondary Plan, $465,000 for Primary Proposal

NEW LONDON — Voters of New London Unified School District will go to the polls Feb. 27 to vote on two school construction programs.

First on the ballot will be a $1.4 million high school construction proposal and a $465,000 elementary school construction plan.

Although the ballot will not list the type of high school to be built, or what the elementary projects would consist of, the school board has voted in favor of a three-year senior high school to be built on the Werner Allen site.

Elementary school projects favored by the board include remodeling the present Washington High School for a seventh, eighth and ninth grade junior high, replacing McKinley School for grades kindergarten through five, and remodeling Dale School for grades kindergarten through three or four.

Five Schemes — The board chose from five various schemes prepared by committee composed of Walter Schoenrock, Henry J. Miles Jr. and William Stern Jr.

Total cost of the entire high school and elementary building program would be $1,922,000. However, when the district was bonded for the Sugar Bush School, $360,000 was borrowed. Of this amount, $57,000 will be left over after the Sugar Bush School is completed. This money would be used in the elementary school construction.

Two referendums have already been defeated by voters, the first for $2.7 million and the second for $1.9 million.

Best Suited — In studying the five various plans prepared by the committee, the board said the one selected was best suited for the district for the least amount of money. It is the most feasible, economically as well as educationally, the board said.

Both earlier referendums were for a four-year high school, and did not allow for any elementary school remodeling or building.

With the combination proposed, the school system would be adequate for 20 years, the board said. If the voters approve the referendum, the high school project would be started first.

Under the proposed plan, remodeling of Washington High School would include $100,000 for lighting, heating and ventilating changes, and $54,000 for a study hall.

Four-Year Plan — Mrs. Marion Markman, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, said under a four-year high school plan, Washington would be used for seventh and eighth grade.

The building would be too large and cost too much to maintain for just two grades, she said. According to projected enrollment figures, there would be only 351 students in the two grades in 1978.

Putting sixth grade in the junior high was not recommended because transportation must CHILTON — The City of Chilton and the Calumet County Sheriff's department gave a surprise party for two retiring city employees Monday evening.

Harry Thompson, retiring police chief, and Del Roll, retired utilities superintendent were honored at a banquet at the Hotel Chilton.

Utilities Commissioner Vincent Reinkober, while presenting Roll with his citation, said Chilton will look for a long time to have in it a man with the dedication of Roll.

Cites Thompson — Mayor Elmer Daun, in citing Thompson, said Chilton not only has lost an excellent policeman but a friend as well.

County Judge D. H. Sebor, long-time friend of Thompson, said the things which do not appear on the police blotter are the things Thompson will be remembered for most.

C. J. Kosmosky, Calumet County sheriff, also presented Thompson with a gift from his department.

Both Roll and Thompson received luggage from the city.

Man Pleads Innocent Of Topsy Driving — William Howlett, 29, route 1, Fremont, pleaded innocent today in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 to a charge of driving after drinking. He will face trial May 7 and has posted bond of $250.

Howlett was arrested by Appleton police Friday on S. Walter Avenue.

New London Board Lists 5 Proposals

NEW LONDON — Here are the five plans studied by the board of education preparatory to a Feb. 27 school construction referendum:

— (Recommended by the board of education) New three-year high school, $1.4 million; ventilating and electrical at Washington, $100,000; study hall addition to Washington, $54,000; Dale, $125,000; McKinley, $243,000 for a total of $1,922,000 less the $57,000 for $1,865,000.

This plan would use Washington High School for grades seven-nine and a new senior high. The elementary remains as above.

— New junior high, grades six-eight, $852,300; Washington addition for four-year high, $1,390,500; electrical work in Washington, $50,000; Dale and McKinley the same as above for a total of $2,660,800 less the $57,000 or $2,603,800.

Junior High — If a junior high for grades seven and eight is built another $352,300 could be deducted and this plan would cost $2,251,500.

— New four-year high school, $1.9 million; remodel ventilating and electrical at Washington, $100,000; rebuild McKinley, $243,000; rebuild Dale, $125,000; build study hall at Washington, $54,000; total, $2,365,000 less the $57,000 left over from Sugar Bush School, or $2,365,000.

This plan would use the present high school for grades seven and eight with enrollment of 351 in 1978. Dale would have grades kindergarten-three, McKinley kindergarten-five, and Sugar Bush, Readfield and Lincoln, kindergarten-six.

New School — New Junior high, 7-8-9, $852,300; ventilating and electrical at Washington, $100,000; McKinley, $243,000; Dale, $125,000; build study hall at Washington, $54,000; total, $2,365,000 less the $57,000 left over from Sugar Bush School, or $2,365,000.

This plan would use the present high school for grades seven and eight with enrollment of 351 in 1978. Dale would have grades kindergarten-three, McKinley kindergarten-five, and Sugar Bush, Readfield and Lincoln, kindergarten-six.

Clintonville Jaycee Directors Will Meet — CLINTONVILLE — The board of directors of the Jaycees will have a breakfast meeting at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday at Midway tearoom.

Serving on the committee with Hertel are George Winkler and Raymond Jensen.

Supervisors Want Early Information — Five county board supervisors are drafting a resolution which will in effect ask that they be better informed of issues to be brought before them during the monthly county board sessions.

The resolution will ask that each resolution seeking a change in board policy or an appropriation of money, be filed in County Clerk Mollie Pfeffer's office eight days before the board session, and that copies of the resolutions be mailed to each of the 55 supervisors five days in advance of the session.

County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer said today the request may tie up the county clerk's office with excessive paperwork and mailing procedures. Several members of the county's executive committee agreed that the plan would present several problems to the clerk's staff.

In Draft Form — County Business Administrator Alvin Woehler told Fulcer he planned to meet with the five supervisors to discuss the resolution Tuesday. He said the resolution is still in draft form and several changes may be made.

Penning the resolution are Supvs. Arthur Hoolihan (Appleton 11), Andrew Jimos (Appleton 2), George Greisch (Appleton 3), Norman Austin (Oneida), and John Heidemann (Buchanan).

The supervisors, in the draft of their resolution, stated that resolutions may be presented to the board upon the county board day without the information being presented to the county clerk, if the board waives the procedure by a two-thirds vote.

The procedure would not apply to resolutions which are normally referred to standing committees for action and debate.

The five have stated they are proposing the resolution to better inform the supervisors "so that they may vote intelligently on the resolutions."

Under current procedures, resolutions may be drafted at any time and presented to the board during the board session. Frequently, if the issue requires debate, it is held over for 30 days until the next session.

Woehler said today the current procedure has made possible the delays of important issues.

Intra-Party Fight Involves Reynolds

Wisconsin Governor Already Under Republican Fire as This Is an Election Year

MADISON (AP)—Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds, already under Republican attack this election year, has become involved in an intra-party fight that threatens to drag through a good share of the campaign season.

Developments Monday included information from State Democratic Chairman J. Louis Hanson that Reynolds had all but asked his resignation, and Hanson's announcement that U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson is "seriously considering" challenging Patrick J. Lucey of Madison at the party's summer convention for the post of Democratic national committeeman.

But Reynolds, who has turned controversy into political prosperity in the past, said that even though Democrats fight among themselves, they are united on issues and campaign.

Latest Fight

The latest fight, which renewed old clashes, broke out Sunday at a meeting of the State Administrative Committee. It centered on the election of the new committeeman and balloting to fill two other important party posts.

With Reynolds and Lucey aligned on one side, and Nelson and Hanson on the other, the Lucey-Reynolds choices won. They secured the election of Lucey, of Madison, as national committeeman; Robert Bittner of Green Bay as party treasurer, and Francis Rondeau of Mosinee as member at-large of the administrative committee.

Hanson said that while conferring with Reynolds Monday, he told the governor he would continue as state chairman "if in title only."

"He (Reynolds) questioned whether I would be able to function as state chairman in view of what has happened recently," Hanson said. "He said he doubted I would be able to effectively continue. I considered that remark a prelude to my resignation."

Declined Comment

Reynolds declined comment on Hanson's interpretation.

As for Nelson's challenge of Lucey for the national committee post, Hanson said the senator "feels there is a great need to have a unifying influence in the party." Hanson also said he felt Lucey would seek re-election at the convention because he "seems to covet" the national committee job.

Nelson, who had backed Sherman Stock of Milwaukee for the treasurer post, said Monday night in Washington. "If the governor had told me that he could not consider working with this young man, whom I considered so well qualified for party leadership I would, of course, have asked Mr. Stock to step aside."

Nelson said it was "true that a number of people" had asked him to run for national committee next summer to "stop the divisiveness which has been going on for far too long now in the party."

Party's Efforts

"The party's efforts to fulfill its platform pledges," Nelson continued, "are gravely weakened by these continual fights over local insignificant party issues. It is not my inclination to take on additional responsibilities but I do think it is very important that we stop the disputes that are being initiated in the Wisconsin Democratic party from time to time."

"As for Sunday's administrative committee meeting, I am naturally very disappointed that the governor thought it so important to defeat a man that I had recommended that he would make a personal fight for another candidate. At no time was I informed that the governor had another candidate and that he was in fact moving heaven and earth to block the election of this eminently qualified young man simply because I was supporting him."

The governor declined to comment on Nelson's possible bid for national committeeman.

No Boost For Glenn or Young in Ohio

Voters Will Have To Make Choice For Democrats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Registered Democratic voters will decide without a recommendation from the Ohio party organization between Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. and incumbent U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young for Senate nomination in Ohio's May 5 primary election.

The Glenn camp, Young and State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman all say they are satisfied with the outcome of Monday's political hassle.

But the newcomer to politics, Glenn, appears to be the big winner.

No Endorsement

The state's first preprimary political convention since adoption of the popular-primary system two generations ago broke up without endorsement for either Young of Glenn—and as a result, for nobody for any office at stake this year.

It was "mission accomplished" for backers of Glenn, the 42-year-old Marine Corps veteran who rocketed to fame 23 months ago as the first American to orbit the earth.

Young said in Washington Monday night that the convention result left him "very serene and contented" and expectant of victory. But the 74-year-old senator, opposed by a man 32 years his junior, had called for a showdown on endorsement for whatever value it might have had in getting the grass-roots party forces out in his behalf.

Young Promised

Coleman only Sunday night had told Young that he could have the convention endorsement if he wanted it.

So when the delegates voted 343-329 against single endorsements for each office, it had to shape up as a triumph for the Glenn forces. This was just what their strategy had called for.

Glenn remained in his hotel suite several floors above the ballroom where the convention was taking place. Afterward, he told newsmen: "You know I would like to say something but I'm not allowed to."

He has explained that he can't campaign or take a more active part in politics until his release from the Marine Corps comes through.

Wisconsin Will Have 108 at Convention

Large Delegation For Democratic National Meeting

MADISON — This state will have the largest delegation at the national Democratic convention this year in many years; according to instructions received by the state Democratic committee.

Under new rules, Wisconsin will have 46 full delegate votes at the national nominating convention at Atlantic City in August, which will be represented by 62 persons. Thus some of the votes to be cast by the Wisconsin delegation will be in fractions.

The state committee has ordered an apportionment of the state delegate authorization as follows:

1. Each congressional district will have two full delegates, plus two delegates with one half vote apiece, for a total of 30 votes.
2. Two votes to be cast by the two Wisconsin members of the party's national committee.
3. Eight full delegates, and 12 delegates with one half a vote each, representing the state at large, for a total of 14 full delegate votes.

In addition, the national committee has authorized the selection of 46 alternate delegates. They will be designated by the statutory state committee of the party. Thus the total strength of the Wisconsin delegation at Atlantic City will be a record 108 individuals.

The district delegates will be nominated for the April election ballot at party conventions in the districts to be held next month. The state-at-large delegates will be chosen by the state committee, which has invited suggestions from local party workers. According to tradition, principal incumbent officials such as Gov. Reynolds are chosen as delegates.

AEC Rejects MURA Plans

Wisconsin Congressmen Hold to Thin Hopes for Nuclear Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the Wisconsin congressional delegation clung today to thin hopes for the construction of an atom smasher near the University of Wisconsin.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) said Monday it had rejected plans of the Midwest Universities Research Association (MURA) to erect a $150 million nuclear reactor near Stoughton, Wis.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., called the decision "a tragic mistake in judgment in the highest councils of our national government."

But even as the administration turned its back on the Stoughton development, scientists who have been working on plans for the development for 10 years, were asked to redirect their work toward design of a new accelerator previously planned for construction in the East.

Site Not Picked

Nelson was joined by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Rep. Robert J. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., in emphasizing that the location of the new project, which may cost as much as $1 billion, has not been established.

Proxmire and Kastenmeier said that because President Johnson made the location definite "the location may eventually be in the Midwest," Nelson said the Midwest would be given consideration when the choice is made.

Research by MURA, made up of scientists from 15 universities from nine Midwestern states, has been supported by the AEC, and Proxmire and Kastenmeier noted the new budget contains up to $2 million to keep the MURA scientists at work.

Project Backers

Backers of the Stoughton project, including some of the midwestern congressmen, have contended that there has been an undue concentration of big atom testing facilities on the West and East coasts and that, as a result, many of the top nuclear and other scientists produced in the Midwest have gone elsewhere. The project called for development of a reactor which would generate atom-smashing particles with energies up to 12.5 billion electron volts.

Backers of the device also contended its construction would have a favorable impact on the economy in the Midwest. Last December, Nelson and Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., lined up a White House meeting with President Johnson to urge his support. An aide for Nelson said that President Kennedy had indicated shortly before his death his approval of the Stoughton location.

Midwest Research

The AEC announcement Monday said, "the work of midwestern scientists will be centered at Argonne National Laboratories at Argonne, Ill., following a reasonable transition period. Part of the plan involves collaboration between the midwestern ground and scientists at the Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, Long Island, N.Y. who already are engaged in design studies for an accelerator in the 600-1,000 billion-electron-volt range."

Nelson said, "The only thing I can do is express my tremendous regret over the rejection of the MURA proposal, and to hold onto some slim ray of hope which the administration offers in a completely new proposal."

"I am making a personal appeal to the MURA scientists to hold together while we make an effort at the national level to obtain the firm assurances that I believe are necessary."

"We cannot expect these universities, nor the brilliant scientists they have produced who are in demand everywhere, to continue to work any longer on this great effort unless we have reasonable assurances that their work will lead to the construction of a major nuclear accelerator in the Midwest, available to these universities."

Airlift From Panama Brings Back 1,093

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—An airlift of American dependents from Panama ended Monday with the arrival of 14 evacuees, raising to 1,093 the number of persons brought here since last Wednesday.

The Air Force said 29 other dependents are due here today aboard a commercial airliner. About 150 dependents were to leave Panama today aboard the troopship Upsur, probably for Brooklyn, N.Y., and 40 others are to go to New Orleans aboard the troopship Cristobal.

Club Making Plans for Balloon Race Next Year

'Flying Grandmother' Named First Lady of Ballooning

BY ROBERT COOKE NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Barbara Keith, the flying grandmother who died at sea

Mrs. Keith, 42, from Hartford, Conn., was found in the seat of the hot air balloon that had lifted her off Santa Catalina Island 48 hours earlier.

An autopsy showed she drowned. Chief Deputy Coroner Gene Massey also said she developed pneumonia before she died.

He estimated the balloon fell into the sea about 6:15 p.m. Saturday, and said the time of death was probably 2 a.m. Sunday, almost 8 hours later.

Members of the California Balloon Club, however, were undaunted.

In a prepared statement issued after a meeting Monday, they said: "We are all terribly grieved at the passing of a gallant and wonderful person, Barbara Keith."

"With the number of boats and aircraft in the area, it is inconceivable to all of us that Mrs. Keith's descent was not seen and she located.

"We believe the magnificent performance of Ed Zost in winning the race, landing safely and exactly where predicted while other balloonists came down just short of the mainland, indicates the challenge and competitiveness of the race."

Planning Race

"The balloonists are anxious to see the race continue, and the club is formulating plans for next year's race, hoping to exemplify the spirit typified by the first lady of hot air ballooning, Barbara Keith."

Mrs. Keith's body was located eight miles off Dana Point by the crew of a Coast Guard cutter. The recovery spot is about 25 miles due east of Santa Catalina Island, where nine balloonists took off Saturday afternoon.

Coast Guard spokesmen said Mrs. Keith's body, encased in an inflated lifejacket, was tied to the balloon's gas tanks by a 25-foot rope.

Another length of rope tied her body to a stuffed poodle she had laughingly described as her co-pilot.

Association to Check Lakes Ports Foreign Shipping

CHICAGO (AP)—Directors of the International Association of Great Lakes Ports agreed Monday to cooperate with a Senate subcommittee which will look into complaints that Great Lakes ports haven't received an adequate share of foreign trade.

Clifford W. Morgan of Hamilton, Ont., president and Canadian chairman of the association, and William J. Rogers of Cleveland, the United States chairman, said the directors will present their views at committee hearings in mid-February in Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo and Muskegon, Mich., and probably later in Chicago or Milwaukee.

The association, set up four years ago to encourage the development and use of waterborne transportation on the Great Lakes, contends that the area has been deprived of its fair share of foreign trade.

Editor Says Factions Split Ecumenical Council Defeats

Conference Is Major Topic at First Session of Lawrence Series

"Oversimplifying, I would say the progressives won the first session of the Second Ecumenical Council, while the reactionaries won the second," said the Rev. Kyle Haselden, managing editor of The Christian Century, in the opening address of Lawrence College's Religion In Life Conference Monday.

Conference theme is "Toward Christian Unity," with particular emphasis on the Vatican Council, although parallel ecumenical movements in Protestant denominations were also briefly sketched.

"Time is on the side of the open door policy within the church; the world is pressing in on it," Haselden said. "However, if a terminal date is given to the Council, then time is on the side of the closed door."

Pope Paul has indicated the third session may be the last. If so, the purposes of the council can be defeated, the speaker said.

Haselden has been a working journalist at the council.

Five Topics
In the first session, about 70 major topics were reduced to 17 schemata, five of which have excited a great deal of interest, he said.

They are the nature of the church, the use of the vernacular in liturgy, the schema on communications, the subject of Christian unity, and the church's relationship to the modern world.

From the beginning, there has been a detectable struggle in the council between the progressives and conservatives, Haselden said. Although it is not accurate to say the curia is all extremely reactionary, there is a sizable reactionary bloc within it, he added.

"There is some geographical basis for progressivism or conservatism," Haselden claimed. A great many of the progressives come from Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, England and the United States, while among the reactionaries are the Italian, Spanish and Portuguese, he said.

Progressives have the voting strength in the council, while the conservatives have the strategic strength, with powerful representation in the curia and commission.

Some Victories
There were some victories in the second session, Haselden said. "The fact that the subject of Mary was subordinated was a victory for Christian unity."

Woman, 90, Fatally Hurt In Accident

Neenah Pedestrian Walks Into Side Of Dump Truck

NEENAH — A 90 year old Neenah woman was killed at 2:58 p.m. Monday when she apparently walked into a dump truck at the intersection of W. Wisconsin Avenue and Church Street, Neenah.

Mrs. Ottillia Hanson, 124½ Franklin Ave., Neenah, was pronounced dead on arrival at The Clark Memorial Hospital following the accident. She was taken there by Neenah Fire Department ambulance.

According to police reports, a Popp Concrete Products Co. dump truck, driven by Andrew W. Sarnowski, 46, 407 Nicolet Blvd., Neenah, was turning right off of Church Street onto W. Wisconsin Avenue when Mrs. Hanson walked into the side of the truck.

The incident occurred just off the northwest corner of the intersection.

Witness
A witness told police that Mrs. Hanson had first crossed Church Street from east to west and in doing so walked in front of the dump truck.

He said that she then began walking south across W. Wisconsin Avenue on the west side of the intersection as the truck began its turn.

Mrs. Hanson according to the witness, walked into the truck, although he was unable to determine whether it was the front or side of the truck.

County Coroner Arthur Miller was called. After investigation he indicated there would be no inquest. Death was due to severe head injuries.

The last traffic fatality in Neenah occurred on July 13, 1963 when a Neenah man and woman were killed in a one car accident on S Park Avenue.

Funeral Friday
Mrs. Hanson was born Jan. 7, 1874 in Oshkosh and was a Neenah resident since 1924. She was a graduate of the Mercy School of Nursing in Chicago and married Martin P. Hanson, operator of a Neenah clothing store, in 1924. He died in 1944. She was a member of St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, the Sanctuary Society and Catholic Daughters.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday at the West-gor Funeral Home and at 10 a.m. at St. Margaret Mary Church. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Thursday. The Catholic Daughters rosary will be recited at 7 p.m. and the general rosary at 8 p.m.

Several nieces and nephews survive.

Liquor Taken From Waupaca Country Club Saturday

WAUPACA — Three or four bottles of liquor were stolen early Saturday morning when the Waupaca Country club was broken into, city police reported.

The building was entered sometime between 12:30 and 1:20 a.m. Saturday. It was discovered by the night patrolman who received a complaint of several cars being at the clubhouse.

Police said entry could have been gained through the rear door in the basement or the front door. A door separating the lounge from the dining room was broken to gain entry into the barroom.

Police said there was change in the cash registers, but none was taken.

More than 25 batches of cheese will be processed in the plant's four vats. One by one, they will be spread and packed into the tub measuring 14½ feet long, 6½ feet wide and five feet, eight inches high.

375,000 Pounds Milk
Movie cameramen were present to record the event.

Suidzinski said the huge cheese will require 375,000 pounds of milk — 187½ tons.

Four neighboring dairy plants, besides Steve's, are supplying the milk. Another is on standby.

Besides Steve's own crew, some 25 other cheesemakers are on the job. They'll work eight-hour shifts or less, depending on the time they can spare from their regular jobs.

Suidzinski has a national reputation for turning out big cheese, but this is by far his biggest. His previous record was a 15,065-pounder made about four years ago. It was used in a California supermarket promotion for the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture.

Technicians on Hand
H. L. Wilson and Myron W. Hales, Chicago, associated with the Charles Pfizer and Co., arrived Monday to lend technical assistance. Wilson is widely known as a cheese judge. Hales is an expert on chemicals involved in cheese making.

It is planned to transport the cheddar to New York City in April. Meanwhile, it will be cured at the Steve's Cheese Co. plant by a specially-constructed refrigeration unit.

The cheese will be on display at the World's Fair through Sept. 15. It will be taken on a tour around the country through the fall, winter and spring before being returned to the fair for a second year.

Engineering Problems
Carting the 17½ ton cheese posed engineering problems seldom encountered in the food industry. The Ford Motor Co. is donating a diesel tractor to provide the power, and Highway Trailer of Edgerton is providing the trailer. The refrigeration unit is being donated by Thermo King of Minneapolis.

The Borden Co. has agreed to purchase the cheese after the two-year showing. It is anticipated the firm will use it for a special promotion.

A substantial portion of the financial outlay required will come from $35,000 appropriated for the project by the Wisconsin Legislature. The State Department of Agriculture and the State Conservation Department are administering the fund.

grade in the public junior high before moving to the three-year senior high.

UW Survey
In making the decision to remodel Dale School, the board went against a recommendation by a University of Wisconsin survey team.

If the school were eliminated as the report recommends, it would be necessary to transport all students in the area to Readfield School. Population growth in the Dale and Medina area warrants the Dale School, a member said. There are now 27 students who walk to school, reducing the transportation load.

Remodeling would consist of gutting the entire present building, making it into a multi-purpose room, and then building a four-classroom addition.

The proposed high school would be in the northwest corner of the Werner-Allen site with entrances on Washington Street and Werner - Allen Road. It would be a 100,000-square foot, one-story building with 38 teaching stations for 800 students. A 100 - foot square gymnasium would be in the center of the building.

Close Street
It would not be necessary to close Washington Street, which was proposed in earlier referendums. There would also be enough room on the south side of the site for a full quarter-mile running track.

The referendum will not include equipment for the schools, but a two mill tax, levied for one year has built up a fund of $112,749, and a one and one-half mill tax last year added another $57,000 to the fund, making a total of $170,000 to equip new schools.

The board said it would have liked to have given voters a choice of programs, but the school bonding attorney said this is not advisable.

Contrast

Some of the reports coming from Panama during the days of crisis reveal that there has been a lot of fumbling going on. The fact that a group of American high school students defying a school order created the immediate incident that led to the violence is bad enough. So is the news that American soldiers were—and are customarily—sent into riot duty with guns but no bullets.

But most especially someone should be held responsible for the appalling treatment of the widow and family of a slain soldier.

Mrs. Luiz Jimenez-Cruz is a Negro who was married to a Puerto-Rican staff sergeant in the United States Army. When he was killed in Panama, his body was returned to the United States and Mrs. Jimenez-

Cruz and her children accompanied it. But when they arrived in Washington's Union Station, they were left there for two hours. By the time they were taken to the cemetery, she had to pay $25 to have the casket opened to see her husband a last time before he was buried. Then she was denied quarters at a motel although reservations had been made. And an Army spokesman said there were no funds for transporting her and her children to their home because the Army's responsibility was over with the funeral.

Red tape can foul up almost any procedure. But we cannot help contrasting this irresponsible treatment with that of another widow some weeks ago whose husband also in the service of his country was shot down by a sniper's bullet.

The Butts Libel Case

The reduction by a federal judge in Georgia of the libel damages awarded Wally Butts from $3,060,000 to $460,000 while at the same time upholding the conviction of The Saturday Evening Post is a much more reasonable solution of the case.

The judge minced no words in his opinion of the Post article about the former Georgia football coach. "The jury was warranted," he wrote, "in concluding from the persistent and continuing attitude of the officers and agents of the defendant that there was a wanton or reckless indifference of plaintiff's rights. The guilt of the defendant was so clearly established by the evidence in the case as to have left the jury no choice but to find the defendant liable."

But he also was of the opinion that "the award for punitive damages was grossly excessive." He said he would order a new trial unless Butts accepted a reduction in those damages from $3,060,000 to $460,000. Butts and his attorney have not yet announced their decision, but his attorney said the main reason for the libel suit in the first place was to vindicate the coach's character and that he and Butts felt that the jury had accomplished this.

The nation's libel laws are intended to protect individuals from unsubstantiated attacks on their character. The Saturday Evening Post's attack on Butts, without concrete evidence to back up their charges, was a flagrant violation of such laws.

But the setting of a dollar value on the damage done is a very difficult matter and a $3,000,000 penalty is a very great one. By reducing the verdict the judge in Georgia has done a service to continued sane enforcement of the libel laws.

Secret Meetings

The Town of Allouez School Board in Brown County has found itself in considerable not water over what may be in part lack of information about what is a secret meeting according to Wisconsin law.

It repeatedly has been made clear that secret meetings of public boards or commissions violate the Wisconsin law except in special cases. Even then, board members must vote to hold an executive session from which the public is barred and specify why.

The Allouez School Board has been busy the last month. In December, a high school bond issue was defeated in a town referendum. Understandably the board has been meeting often in order to try to figure out what to do next.

After charges of secret meetings made by town residents, the board secretary pointed out that the meetings were not secret because the doors were always open, and anyone who wanted to attend could. But she also conceded that no one except board members were notified when the irregularly scheduled meetings were to be held.

In 1962, the Wisconsin attorney general's office issued an opinion in connection with a similar problem in La Crosse. It asked the question "how can there be a public open meeting and how can interested persons attend and obtain the complete information to which the statute entitles them if they do not know about the meeting? Even though there is no specific statutory requirement that notice of the meetings be given, the anti-secrecy law imposes a duty to make the meetings public. This duty is not merely kept by keeping the doors to the meeting open. The duty to make a meeting public requires some further positive steps to let the public know a meeting is going to be held. Where no such steps are taken, the effect is to hold a secret meeting which violates the anti-secrecy law. It would appear that the very least a public agency could do would be to notify representatives of the news media of the time and place of the meeting."

The decision is in no uncertain terms. It further places the burden of making a meeting open upon those holding it rather than upon those seeking to attend. Unless a commission holds meetings at regularly scheduled times, it has the responsibility to take positive action to make public the time and place of each meeting.

It sometimes is amazing that members of boards seeking to meet without the scrutiny of the public do not understand that they may be defeating the very causes they wish to advance. This could have happened in Allouez, where the bond issue was soundly defeated in part, it appears, because a lot of the voters felt they did not understand how the School Board had come to the conclusion that so much money was needed.

This is exactly what the anti-secrecy statute means when it says that "a representative government of the American type is dependent upon an informed electorate . . . the public is entitled to the fullest and most complete information regarding the affairs of government."

Pity Bobby Baker

One of the pieces of evidence discussed by Senate investigators of "the world of Bobby Baker" was that Senator George Smathers had invited Baker to invest $1,500 in a Florida real estate project in 1957. Baker's share of the profit was about $7,000. Upon being contacted by reporters, Smathers confirmed the report. Mr. Baker, he said, was in "difficult financial circumstances . . . trying to raise a large, young family on a limited salary."

There is nothing wrong about making a profit on a real estate project although we have some reservations about the profit Baker made in MGIC without even putting up any of his own money. But we are a little interested in Smathers' concern over Baker's financial circumstances when Baker's salary as Senate majority secretary was $19,600. Quite a few people manage to raise a large young family on less money per year than that.

Of course we presume that Smathers did not know of the other wondrous connections Baker had. Baker has denied so far that he ever received any payments from Ralph Hill, then president of the Capital Vending Company, or used his influence to get those vending machines into official buildings. But a Labor Department employee who says he made out Baker's income tax returns for free—"it was a personal thing"—has testified that Baker did declare payments from Hill but called them "legal fees." And Senator Harry Byrd has recalled, when someone else gave him memory a nudge, that Baker called him about getting certain machines into the Capitol.

Washington of course is an expensive place to live. Considering that Baker must have had a lot of expenses connected with his various money-making projects—including ownership of an apartment where he allowed his secretary, known as his "cousin," to live.

But when all the facts have dribbled in, we wonder whether Smathers will still be sorry for the plight of the young man "trying to raise a large, young family on a limited salary."

Looking Backward

Appleton Paper Used for Crescent

100 YEARS AGO. Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 23, 1864.

That miserable straw paper on which we have been compelled to print the Crescent for some time past is now "played out," and we now use our own home made paper which is the best that can be had in the State. Adkins is crowded with orders and cannot begin to supply the demand. This is sufficient guaranty of quality of stock manufactured at the Appleton Paper Mills.

Rumor says that Mr. E. S. Turner has had a liberal offer from some of the residents of the Town of Center to build a steam saw mill there and that he has accepted the offer. A mill of the kind out there would be a good investment and of great value to the residents of the town and vicinity. Mr. Turner is an energetic business man, bound to succeed in spite of his unfortunate "burn out."

The snow is very deep in the woods, somewhat interfering with business. Still, there is a large quantity of timber, logs, bolts, wood, etc. coming into town daily. The greatest complaint we hear of is a scarcity of workmen. A good army of laborers would find steady employment out here at high wages.

Mixed Crew for Nuclear Ship Gives New Strength to NATO

BY MAX FREEDMAN

WASHINGTON — The planning for the nuclear defense of NATO has now entered an important new phase. Italy and Britain have agreed to send men to the mixed crew of a demonstration ship. This is a long stride toward the creation of a multilateral nuclear force based on the Polaris submarine.

Steady progress is being made in establishing this force in spite of France's opposition and the sneers of some American critics that the whole plan is impractical or is not worth the trouble it entails.

On the American side the chief credit goes to Livingston Merchant, the President's special representative; Admiral Richetts; Walt Rostow and Henry Owen of the policy planning staff of the State Department; and Robert Schaezel, deputy assistant secretary of state for Atlantic affairs. First proposed by the Eisenhower administration, the plan has been continued by President Kennedy and President Johnson.

In Europe there has been a treasurer, Lois Brusewitz, assistant treasurer, Marie Melchert, Leon Fischer, Irene Court, Lavern Wagester, and Mary Adamski.

The second year class at Outagamie County Rural Normal School was making plans for a home talent show under the leadership of students Luella Petit, New London, Jeanette Ort, Black Creek, and Lucille Van Vreede, Kaukauna.

Miss Mollie Goldin, Kaukauna, was the president of the newly organized junior chapter of Hadassah. Miss Marjorie Spector, Appleton, was vice president, and the Misses Helen and Fay Cohen, Appleton, were secretary and treasurer, respectively.

10 YEARS AGO. Tuesday, Jan. 19, 1954.

Officers were elected at the first meeting of the year of the Darby Ever Alert 4-H Club. They were Robert Wittmann, president, Lois Sprangers, vice president, Lorraine Jochman, secretary, Alice Sprangers, treasurer, and Eyla Mae Van Teeck, reporter.

Twelve new members were initiated into the Little Chute American Legion Auxiliary: Mrs. Norman Pynenberg, Mrs. John Van Grinsven, Mrs. Clayton DeBruin, Mrs. Clarence Hinkens, Mrs. Lawrence Vosters, Mrs. George Spierings, Mrs. Eugene Winn, Mrs. Ray Chartier, Mrs. William Zornow, Mrs. Sylvia Lamers, Mrs. Glen Jansen and Mrs. Henry Winus.

Mrs. Harold Ornstein was elected president of the Appleton Visiting Nurse Association that week. Miss Mary Ebben and Mrs. Dan Hardt were named vice presidents, Mrs. Joseph Foley secretary and Mrs. George Ward the new treasurer. Newly elected to the board of directors were Mrs. Richard Radsch, Mrs. Roy Coolidge and Mrs. Francis Jenkins.

growing realization that the plan offers the best hope for solving the nuclear problems of the NATO community. It is significant that the latest offer of help has come from Great Britain, a nuclear power, and from Italy, where the government has been under pressure to create a national nuclear force. The mixed crew on the demonstration ship will be drawn from the United States, Britain, Italy, Germany, Turkey, Greece and perhaps also from The Netherlands and Belgium. American officials expect the demonstration to last about six months. They believe that by the end of that time the success of the experiment will be so clear to everyone that no more will be heard of the notion that a mixed crew is a naval absurdity.

President Johnson is committed to the plan's success. Last Nov. 8, while still vice president, he said in Brussels: "For the defense of Western Europe, the dangers have become more complex. To the threat of massive Soviet ground forces has been added the threat of Soviet missiles. We must be prepared to meet the dangers that are, not the dangers that were. Two American administrations have believed—and have urged—that this threat be met by the combination of American missiles in the United States and of medium range missiles deployed to an Allied fleet in Europe on waters under multilateral control, manning and ownership. The movement to Atlantic partnership makes this possible. The movement to European unity makes this desirable—as a first step toward a greater European voice in nuclear matters. Evolution of this missile fleet toward European control, as Europe marches toward unity, is by no means excluded."

No Better Plan. The essential case for the mixed force has been stated by President Johnson. Thus far no critic, whether in the United States or elsewhere, has managed to develop a better alternative plan.

Mr. Schaezel has reinforced Johnson's argument by making these essential points: "Germany confronts the East; it is German land that would first be hit. It is both the target and the prize of Soviet policy. As an artificially divided country it has all the psychological and political problems this situation suggests. The Federal Republic has addressed itself energetically to the task of raising, training and equipping an army—and in so doing meeting its NATO commitments."

"The security of Germany can only be assured as a part of a wider NATO defense; European security—and that of America—is as inexorably tied to that of Germany."

Schumann Saw Truth. "This cold logic of interdependence means simply that no policy will be stable or viable that discriminates against Germany or fails to meet its positive aspirations. The genius of France in 1950 was that Robert Schuman saw this truth and launched a policy of equality which brought about a 20th century European political renaissance. If the nuclear issue is the alliance's stubborn political problem then it too must be solved without discrimination against Germany."

"The leaders of Germany have shown rectitude and responsibility in seeking solutions other than national nuclear deterrence. They have privately and publicly welcomed the multilateral force as a means of providing Germany with a respectable nuclear role, firmly anchored both within NATO and to United States forces."

"And the foregoing analysis of Germany is applicable at many points to Italy, although the time schedule is different and the immediate pressures less compelling."

For the time being, American officials are willing to rest their case on these statements by President Johnson and Schaezel. They promise that a good deal of information, within the restraints of security, will be made available on the experiment with the demonstration ship. It is certainly an experiment that will repay faithful watching.

"... And when you press any of these buttons nothing actually happens . . . but our motivational research says there's a demand for them!"

Gift of Heil Papers Brings Memories of Misunderstood Man

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — A paragraph in a publication of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin about the gift of the Julius P. Heil family of the papers of the late governor rouses memories among those who knew the most misunderstood man in modern state politics.

Joseph Heil, his son, delivered the senior Heil's papers to the Society archives just about a quarter of a century after the day that the self-made Milwaukee immigrant boy became a millionaire achieved his life's ambition and became governor of Wisconsin.

As it happened, Heil's rise to the governorship also coincided with what might be called this correspondent's graduation from cubhood. These dispatches had begun during the preceding regime of Philip F. LaFollette, but their author had only learned to find his way around the political system of that time when LaFollette was being defeated for re-election and ending his political career. Then came Julius, as everybody called him, and it was one of the most delightful experiences that could come to a young and earnest newspaperman.

TIME. In the perspective of the years, it is reasonably clear that Heil was treated unfairly by the press of Wisconsin—although it remains hard to see how that could have been avoided.

His conviviality, his simplicity, the naive conception of his duties and the relationship of the executive to the legislature in a representative government, his effulgent openness, the love for his German immigrant cronies of his Milwaukee youth, combined with an earthy and totally unselfconscious storytelling style and a cheerful indifference to the stuffy rules of-official dignity quickly created a legend.

Reporters for years there after relished the anecdote and the phrases. There was tendency to write the color of the man, rather than his ideas and his works. Soon the appearance totally overcame the reality. There emerged the picture of the happy clown accidentally placed in high office. While there were those who seemed to be amused there were many more who were offended and withdrew their vote support.

Truth compels the acknowledgment that, as in all politicians, there was a good deal of the man in the man. He enjoyed the laughs and the tentation, and what in his own unsophisticated way he never quite recognized as notoriety and ridicule. Yet there were times when he expressed himself as disturbed at the way his official career was turning out, when he showed a sadness about the cruelties that are a part of professional politics, and the betrayals that hurt simple men so deeply.

THE MAN

What was finally obscure was the fact that there was a wonderfully generous and wholesome man whose remaining ambition was to achieve public good.

Julius Heil never quite understood modern government. Like so many other men who have been successful in private industry and the accumulation of wealth, he tended to equate financial success with political ability and the quality of popular leadership. What he achieved the governorship and learned how lonely high office can be, he found around him only cronies who shared his own political limitation and professional politician who had their own axes grinded.

Yet he was a good and generous man, beyond his depiction in public life even in those comparatively more stumpy times, but a man whose memory somehow retains a greater freshness and wholesomeness than those of many of his contemporaries who have also passed on.

I'm glad I knew him.

Strictly Personal

Character Vital Factor In Any Man's Success

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the saddest sights in the world is watching a man trying to make intelligence do the work of character. For it is a common—and often fatal—mistake of men of intelligence to believe that the brain can carry the whole load of the personality.

In actuality, men of limited intelligence but with firm and integrated characters can go much farther (and with less effort) than men of superior intelligence with malformed characters.

There is a "wind-chill factor" in personalities that must be recognized. We now know that it is not the absolute temperature that makes people cold, but the temperature combined with the wind velocity.

For instance, if the temperature is 20 above zero, and the wind is blowing at 15 miles an hour, a person walking is as cold as he would be at 5 above zero with no wind. We subtract one degree of heat for each mile of velocity which the wind is blowing.

And if a person's intelligence is rated at 180, and the winds of passion and frustration and bitterness and self-conflict are blowing at a psychic rate of 100 miles an hour, then his intelligence (for all practical purposes) drops to 80, and he is struggling to compete with the subnormal, despite his fine original equipment.

Every worthwhile task the world requires a balanced combination of intelligence and character. A person who lacks the mental equipment can bring vast amounts of good will and decency to problem and yet its satisfactory solution will continue elude him.

Contrariwise, a person who is deeply at odds with himself (although, of course, generally unaware of it), can have the highest intelligence yet will use only a fraction of it for productive purposes, the rest of his mental energy being drained off for defensive and aggressive needs.

Failure to recognize a profound handicap has many bright men sour and vicious and depressed. They are "stupid" men outshining the and rising above them—although, naturally enough, they bludge themselves on their own stupidity. Yet nobody is so impressive and so successful the long run, and in the deepest inward sense of the word as the man whose mind and character seem matched with each other, in elegant harmony.

We can overlook the flaws in a man of genius, like Beethoven; but in a lesser man, such defects are fatal for the temperature of his intelligence is not great enough to compensate for the wind-chill factor.

Sadly Charlie Reveals the Fate to Which Poetry Has Dropped of Late

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

There is in the land a seemingly new-found need to express one's self—in poetry. Some of the work which is being bandied about in the public prints are really very good; others leave something (often rhyme) to be desired.

House

I have recently had a letter from a pleasant lady who enclosed some samples of her work and, in objectivity, I must say it is very good. But the lady asks my advice on the chances of making a living by writing poetry. Alas, I will be obliged to tell her that if poetry is not yet dead, it yet has virtually no market sufficiently strong to provide a living.

Chances are that if Robert Browning were around today he would be seeking a job writing advertising jingles, which is just about the only way he could employ his pen profitably with poetry.

Except for the "little magazines" which pay almost nothing for poetry, fellows like Tennyson, Wordsworth, Byron, Shelley, Keats and others of that ilk would have to be writing lyrics for pop tunes in order to buy their bread and beans.

A few literary magazines print poetry and pay small sums for them. And a book of poetry can't expect to make any best-a living, and these are people like Robert Frost, Ogden Nash, Carl Sandburg, Langston Hughes and Allen Ginsberg. Presumably other numbers of persons earn an occasional dollar or two; but poetry no longer pays the average good writer.

Prestige Writing

Books of poetry are not even reviewed by newspaper critics; and it begins to appear that poets seek to publish mainly for prestige because the cash is not forthcoming.

The magazines which print an occasional poem pay such grand rewards as "$2 per printed page" or "a maximum of $7" or "pays $3.8 per poem" or "pays $10 per poem on publication" or "pays 20 cents per line."

In a nation of many millions of literate citizens, there are only a few poets who can make ble standards of the art. Only those who regard the art of poetry as their vocation should submit manuscripts. We pay 50 cents per line.

Greeting Card Field

Book publishers occasionally print a volume of verse but they do so only for prestige; they do not expect to show a profit. There is also a market in greeting cards, but the rewards are small, from 50 cents a line up to $30, but the latter company specifies that "we prefer that the verse be accompanied by the art work."

Many magazines of poetry announced: "Our only payment is two copies of the issue in which the poem appears."

If I could advise the lady properly, I would be inclined to tell her to try her hand at gimmick poetry if she wishes to make "a living" as her letter implies that she does.

Famed Quatrain

It is strange to note that one of the most fantastically successful poems in the history of the United States was a four-line quatrain which was written by Gelett Burgess in May, 1895.

It is quoted to this day and you know it as "The Purple Cow." I never saw a purple cow; I never hope to see one, But I can tell you anyhow; I'd rather see than be one.

Wins 'Immortality'

Though he lived to be 85 years old (he died in 1951), and though he wrote hundreds upon hundreds of verses after that, he is remembered almost solely for "The Purple Cow" which has Edna St. Vincent Millay, Vachel Lindsay and a handful of others. Since then, writing poetry as a means of livelihood has gasped to a sad death.

zine, "The Lark", which died within two years of its birth. Not very often have the people of the United States hurried to the book shops to purchase poetry. The first time was in 1855 when Longfellow's famed "Hiawatha" was published. After that, poetry was not to be found in the best-seller ranks until about 1915 for Carl Sandburg, "The Purple Cow" which has Edna St. Vincent Millay, Vachel Lindsay and a handful of others. Since then, writing poetry as a means of livelihood has gasped to a sad death.

Goldwater Theory on Welfare Quite Different

Government Has Administered Welfare Since Roosevelt Took Reins in 1933

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's idea of welfare is not only different from that of Congress but from that of all the administrations, Democratic and Republican, back to the New Deal.

The Arizonaan, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, laid down some of his ideas about caring for the poor in a speech last week and before that, in his book, "The Conscience of a Conservative."

President Johnson expressed his views on tackling poverty in his State of the Union message to Congress last week and again Monday in his economic report. He is going to propose a broad program to fight poverty.

The philosophy of the administrations of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Johnson can be summed up this way: the federal government has a responsibility for the general welfare.

Congress said the same thing in the Employment Act it passed in 1946.

Goldwater Theory

In his book Goldwater said: "Let welfare be a private concern. Let it be promoted by individuals and families, by churches, private hospitals, religious service organizations, community charities and other institutions that have been established for this purpose."

"Finally, if we deem public intervention necessary, let the job be done by local and state authorities that are incapable of accumulating the vast political power that is so inimical to our liberties."

Here are some of them:

Lack of Skill

"We are told that many people lack skills and cannot find jobs because they did not have an education. That's like saying people have big feet because they wear big shoes."

"The fact is that most people who have no skill have had no education for the same reason—low intelligence or low ambition" and that "workers in many other countries cannot earn as much as our welfare clients receive."

For pretty much of its history this country accepted the philosophy of private charity, denying the government had responsibility for people's welfare. This was abandoned in the depression of the New Deal days when welfare programs were adopted and have been national policy ever since.

Economic Advisers

Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers dwelt at length, in their section of the report, on poverty and the need to combat. They said: "One-fifth of our families and nearly one-fifth of our total population are poor."

There were 47 million families in the United States in 1962. Fully 9.3 million, or one-fifth of these families—comprising more than 30 million persons—had total income below $3,000 (and) 5.4 million families, containing more than 17 million persons, had total income below $2,000."

While Goldwater talked of poverty as rooted in "low intelligence or low ambition," the President's economic advisers concluded: "Poverty breeds poverty. A poor individual or family has a high probability of staying poor."

"Low incomes carry with them high risks of illness; limitations on mobility; limited access to education and training. Poor parents cannot give their children the opportunities for better health and education needed to improve their lot. Thus the cruel legacy of poverty is passed from parents to children."

Budget Creates A Wasteland, Laird Charges

Seeks Re-Evaluation Of Science Project Building Locations

BY FRANCES McKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — President Johnson's budget request for the next fiscal year will create an "economic wasteland in the middle west", unless there is a "reevaluation" of the location of the 15 scientific laboratories listed in it, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R. Marshfield declared today.

Laird, a member of the House Appropriations Committee which must okay funds requested in the new budget said that not only the future activities of the Mura atom accelerator, originally scheduled for Stoughton, would be moved to east and west coast laboratories, but that 85 per cent of the $13.5 billion requested for scientific research also would be spent in coastal states.

Economic Development

"I am not trying to be provincial, but the facts show that economic development follows the research dollar," the congressman stated. "Private investment spends $10 to every government-invested dollar in scientific research in the area in which the research is being conducted in the four year period following the establishment of the laboratory. It therefore follows that unless the president reevaluates his research program, he will throw our part of the country into an economic vacuum."

Fifteen laboratories were earmarked for construction under the president's $13.5 billion budget request for scientific research, according to the congressman. He added that the environmental health laboratory, much sought after by both the University of Wisconsin and Taft Laboratory in Cincinnati, would go either to Maryland or North Carolina.

"A highly important electronics laboratory is slated for Boston, together with scientific projects which will go to New York, Massachusetts, cities in Texas and west coast communities," he continued. "Work on the Mura atom accelerator eventually will be done in the Brook Haven Laboratories on Long Island, N. Y. and at the Lawrence radiation Laboratories at Berkeley, California."

Wisconsin Graduates

He said it was "ironic" that "we in Wisconsin graduate more Ph.D.'s in science than any other state, yet after graduation, these scientists leave the state for the east or west coast because that is where the research is being carried on."

"Many people believe there are more Harvard graduates doing research in Washington than from any other university, but this is just not so," he said. "There are more Ph.D.'s here from Wisconsin University than any other one institution of higher learning."

He added that he wanted to support Johnson in his "economy" drive, but thought that "12.5 billion should be enough for scientific research and that it should be 'properly allocated' to include laboratories in the middlewest."

South American Countries Agree On Dam Project

BRASILIA (AP) — Brazilian President Joao Goulart said Monday he and Paraguay's President Alfredo Stroessner have reached agreement in principle to build the world's largest hydroelectric power plant on their Parana River border.

He said a team of Brazilian technicians would go to Paraguay soon to begin work on details.

ment to halt all production of fissionable materials for weapons use," Johnson said the United States "is willing to achieve prompt reductions through both sides closing comparable production facilities on a plant-by-plant basis with mutual inspection."

3. The United States will be ready to discuss proposals "for creating a system of observation posts" as a means of reducing the danger of surprise attack.

4. The nuclear powers should agree to ban the spread of nuclear weapons to non-nuclear nations, should ban all nuclear weapons tests underground as well as those now prohibited and should accept inspection of their "peaceful nuclear activities."

Much of the ground had been covered by Johnson in a message to Soviet Premier Khrushchev made public Monday.

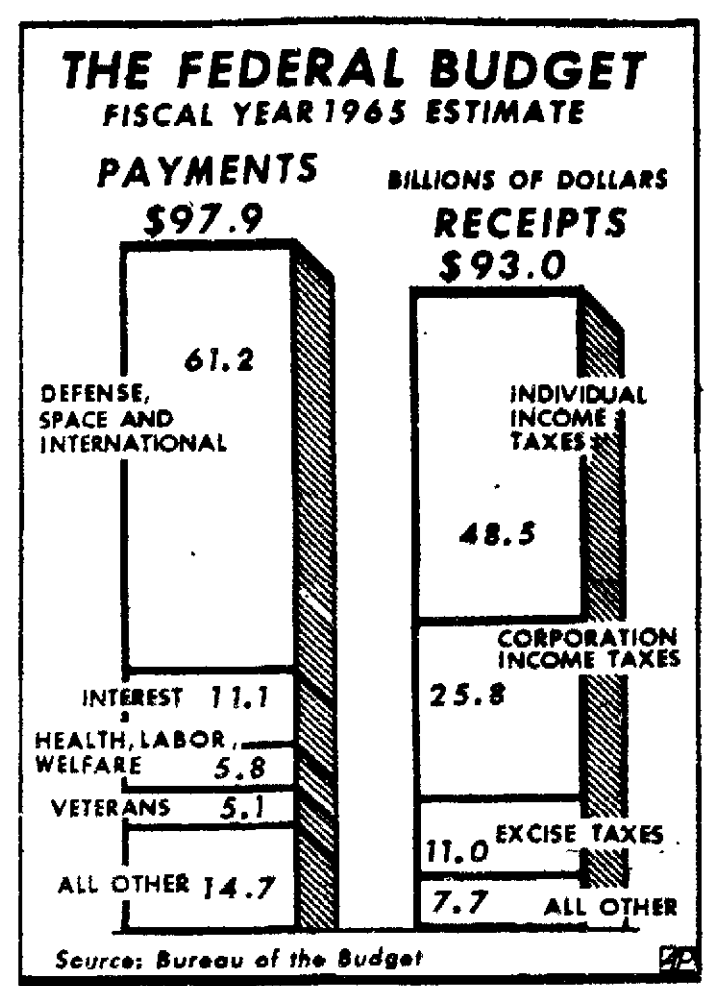

An article in the Soviet labor newspaper Trud indicated the Russians would renew their proposals for a nonaggression pact between the Soviet bloc and the North Atlantic Alliance, establishment of nuclear-free zones over the world, prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons and reductions in military budgets and military bases on foreign soil.

American disarmament negotiator William C. Foster was publicly optimistic over prospects for the talks—the Johnson administration's first major encounter with the Russians at an international conference.

Foster, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, believes three achievements last year helped to produce a climate in which progress should be possible.

These are the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, the Washington-Moscow "hot line" and the U.N. General Assembly resolution banning mass destruction weapons from space vehicles.

A high American source said these agreements—on subjects which were debated by the Geneva conference—had brought "a change in the relationship cal caution who have delayed action for more than a year on the $11-billion tax reduction bill. Johnson proposed to cut 800 employees from the foreign aid program, a move certain to please the many aid critics in Congress, and to trim another 1,400 from the Agriculture Department, whose budget would be sliced by $1.3 billion to a total of $5.1 billion.

For new foreign aid funds Johnson asked $3.4 billion—the lowest request since the Marshall Plan got under way in 1948 and a whopping $1.5 billion below what President John F. Kennedy sought a year ago.

Uses for Funds

But much of the savings in money and manpower would be diverted into welfare, labor, education, job retraining, youth assistance, and other arms of the antipoverty offensive.

The much-publicized Johnson ax-work on federal employment wound up as a net cut of only 1,200 jobs, or a shaving of less than one-twentieth of 1 per cent. That would leave 2,511,200 between the two sides which is propitious of further progress." But several delegates said the conference suffered its first setback even before it resumed formal sessions when Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin, at a private meeting with Foster Monday, dashed all hopes of quick progress on a total nuclear test ban.

The Moscow treaty outlawed only tests above ground and under water, those that can be detected without an international control system.

Judge Tries to Speed Choice Of Hoffa Jury

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A federal judge threatened today to take over personally the questioning of prospective jurors for Teamsters President James Hoffa's jury-tempering trial—in order to speed things up.

"Unless the questioning is accelerated," U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson said, he will take the right to examine prospective jurors away from the lawyers, and ask the questions himself.

His comment, made soon after the trial began its second day, seemed aimed primarily at defense attorneys—who took up the better part of two hours in examining the first prospect Monday.

Questioning of five men and two women who had been locked up overnight as prospective jurors resumed. Sixteen U.S. marshals had been delegated to watch them.

Only one of the eight, George H. Baber Jr. of Dayton, Tenn., had been questioned. Baber was seated tentatively at the close of the first day of what promises to be a long trial.

wrapped into his poverty package.

— Notification that he will seek another increase in the federal debt limit. Unless Congress acts, the temporary ceiling of $315 billion falls to the permanent limit of $285 billion on June 30.

But the debt by then, Johnson said, will be $312 billion; and a year later, $317 billion. Failure to raise the ceiling would necessitate resorting to fiscal devices which "conflict with the economical operation of the government."

Defense Cuts

— A gradual paring-down of the Defense Department's payroll. About 10,000 civilians will have been dropped by next June 30, another 17,000 by the end of fiscal 1965, a year later.

— A repeat of President Kennedy's request for creation of a new Cabinet-rank department of urban affairs and housing under a new name, the "Department of Housing and Community Development." Congress turned down Kennedy's plan for the 11th department and has shown no recent sign of warming up to the idea.

— A call for higher salaries for high-level government officials. Government economy and efficiency, Johnson said, will come chiefly from the hard work of the top managers, "who now are plainly underpaid for what is expected of them."

Johnson assured congress that the planned military and nuclear cutbacks imply no "relaxing of our guard."

GOP Critical But Democrats Praise Budget

"realistic estimates" of the government's financial activities in the year beginning next July 1.

"A lot of people have said in the past that Johnson can't do this and can't do that," he said. "But Johnson has done what he has set out to do in most instances."

"It is a realistic budget which Congress will do its best to keep within, if not under, his estimates."

Sen. Norris G. Cotton, R-N.H., said Johnson's message was "full of economy - sounding phrases but short on real performance."

Lower Than Expected

"For instance," he said, "it must be noted that the President is asking Congress to appropriate $1.4 billion more this year than was appropriated last year. Another increase in the national debt ceiling, to a new all-time high, is requested and after all the fanfare about a reduction in government employment, his actual reduction amounts to cutting less than one federal employe out of every 2,000."

Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, found the budget "gratifying in that it is lower than we had reason to expect it would be several months ago."

Rep. Ben F. Jensen, R-Iowa, senior GOP member on the appropriations group, promised that "we will cut this budget everywhere we can find a soft spot and I think we can find $5 billion or $6 billion in soft spots in it."

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said that "it is especially gratifying to know that we have reached the point where we can hold the line on spending and still meet our commitments at home and abroad."

Sen. Jacob M. Javits, R-N.Y., said he regretted that Johnson had committed himself "to the philosophy that sees in the tax cut the administration's major answer to our unemployment problem."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said that tax reduction on which Johnson based his increased estimates of income Violators are liable to a fine of $25 to $100 for the first offense. Penalties for subsequent offenses include fines of $50 to $300 and 5 to 60 days in jail.

Knowles Says State Can Hold Unemployment

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Warren P. Knowles, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, said Monday he believes Wisconsin can hold the line or perhaps lower the unemployment rate in 1964.

"We found about 20,000 jobs in 1962 and again in 1963 and I should think we can do as well in 1964," Knowles told the Wisconsin Bankers Association.

won't help the unemployed, the farmers or the elderly, and that the deficit will run about $4.5 billion.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, said the proposed defense cuts, especially for the air force, "will need more justification than has thus far been offered."

High Cliff Park Association Plans, Elects

Report '63 Use Hit All-Time High; Twice '62 Figure

A review of accomplishments, plans for 1964 and election of officers constituted the business of the annual meeting of members of the High Cliff Park Association held at the Home Mutual building last night.

Use of the High Cliff State Park reached a new high and nearly double the 1962 attendance. According to conservation department reports, 111,641 cars and 402,832 people passed through the park area as compared to 234,888 in 1962.

The state finally succeeded in getting a good well, going down 692 feet — a well that will produce 700 to 1,000 gallons a minute.

Contemplated for 1964 are a new shelter building on the upper cliff, the beginning of work on the restoration of the Indian mounds, plans for a new 100-unit camp site, completion of sewage and water distribution system for the upper end of the park, the building and installation of 35 new picnic tables and clearing 10 acres of new picnic area adjacent to the beach and quarry.

More Land
According to Alvin E. Nelson, Asst. Supt. of the Forest and Park Division of the Wisconsin Conservation Department, there are presently 492 acres in High Cliff Park, and plans are presently under way to acquire 186 additional acres.

"The state must acquire additional land to complete proper development of the High Cliff area, one of the most outstanding scenic and versatile park sites," Nelson said.

Treasurer Harold C. Adams, reported $12,500 was paid by the High Cliff Association last year toward the new bath house. He said a total of nearly $250,000 has been raised by people in the Fox Valley communities.

John Stumpf of Sherwood was elected president to succeed Adam C. Remley. Harold C. Adams was re-elected treasurer, James E. Bamberg, re-elected secretary. Directors re-elected were James E. Bamberg, Elmer H. Jennings, Adam C. Remley and George J. Schaefer. Melvin Rausch was elected as a new director to serve his first term.

The association gave Remley a unanimous vote of thanks for his outstanding work and record of accomplishment during the six years that he headed the Association work.
